FRICTION BETWEEN JAPAN AND BRITAIN REACHES NEW HIGH

ARRESTS RESULT IN PROTESTS

Apprehension of Two Most Prominent Businessmen Representing Tokyo in London Comes Just Two Days After British Sources Expressed Fear That Relations Growing Rapidly Worse Might Provoke Military Action

GERMAN AIR FORCES STAGE DAYLIGHT RAIDS

BULLETIN
London, Aug. 3.—(T)—An unconfirmed report that all Japanese ships sailing for Britain have been ordered to make for Lisbon, Portugal, was relayed here today by Exchange Telegraph, the British news agency. The agency said its information was received from the Berlin radio.

By The Associated Press
Friction between Japan and Great Britain reached a new high point today in the arrest of the two most prominent Japanese business men in London, reports that others were held throughout the empire and rumors of the existence of big spy ring centered in London.

Significantly, the arrests, which came just two days after British sources expressed fear that rapidly worsening Japanese-British relations might eventually provoke Japan to military action.

Japan made a "strong protest" against the arrests. The British insisted their moves were not retaliation for Japanese arrests of Britons; the Japanese press, in turn, insisted that the British press had urged retaliation.

The Japanese embassy said Sato Makihara and Shinsuke Tanabe, London managers of great banking firms, were arrested.

An embassy spokesman said they were "very pro-British men, said he could not imagine how they had provoked suspicion and expressed hope everything would be settled satisfactorily.

Major military events were these: The Nazi air force extended its daylight raids on Britain into the night, slight damage and few casualties resulted, said the British; the Exchange Telegraph (British news agency) reported "hundreds" of Italians killed and much war material captured in fighting in Libya; the Germans said one U-boat sank seven armed British merchant ships on a long cruise and claimed other Nazi naval activity had resulted in the sinking of 260,000 tons of merchant shipping and 25,000 tons of war vessels during July; the Italian command acknowledged one killed, three injured in a British raid on a Sardinia naval base, declared Haifa, in the Holy Land, burned for three days after an Italian bombardment July 25 and told of further extensive air strafing of the British in Africa and Egypt.

CRASH VICTIM TREATED IN UPSET AUTOMOBILE

Lansdowne, Aug. 3.—(T)—A physician crawled through the window of an upset automobile last night to administer first aid to a woman trapped in the machine.

Police were able to free three of the passengers in the automobile after it collided with another and upset, but were unable to rescue Mrs. Eleanor Heyner, 22, of Norfolk, Va. Dr. E. S. Carpenter, Yeocan, Pa., crawled into the car and treated Mrs. Heyner while police tried open the doors.

Mrs. Heyner suffered a fractured right arm.

Striking Grave Diggers Drop Placards to Permit Burial of Relatives of Union Man

Detroit, Aug. 3.—(T)—Striking grave-diggers dropped the placards they carried and abandoned their three-day-old picket-lines to permit the interment of the wife and son of another union man to enter Woodmere cemetery yesterday, but friends of the family filled the graves.

A leader of the United Cemetery Workers (CIO) called off picketing temporarily. The funeral cortege entered and services proceeded, but no cemetery employees were on hand.

The funeral was that of Mrs.

Leader of Cult and Father of Stricken Infant Held in Jail

Adel, Ga., Aug. 3.—(T)—Two members of a snake-handling religious sect entered the second day of a hunger strike in jail today while officers investigated a cult member's death from a snake bite at rites a year ago.

The Rev. W. T. Lipham, gaunt leader of the sect, and Albert Rowan, father of a six-year-old girl bitten by a poisonous snake at rites nine days ago, told Sheriff W. I. Daugherty that they would "fast awhile." They are held on charges of assault with intent to murder pending recovery of the girl, Leitha Ann Rowan.

Meanwhile officers of neighboring Berrien county probed the death of Mrs. Jeffie Smith of Ray City, Ga. Sheriff N. N. Hughes reported she died after being snake-bitten at rites conducted by Lipham last year.

Lipham and Rowan, praying aloud for divine deliverance, refused breakfast yesterday and told the sheriff to bring them no more food. "They said when they want, eat some they'd let me know," Sheriff Daugherty said.

MacFAYDEN FINED

New York, Aug. 3.—(T)—Danny MacFayden, Pittsburgh Pirates pitcher, was fined $100 today by President Ford Frick of the National League as an aftermath of an argument in last night's game at Philadelphia. Frick said he fined MacFayden for throwing his glove, rushing umpire Bill Klem and other conduct unbecoming a player on the field. MacFayden protested a called ball by Klem in the tenth inning and was banished from the game.

"Same Old Stiletto" Is Johnson Comment

Washington, Aug. 3.—(T)—Senator Hiram Johnson of California, a Republican, said today that President Roosevelt had used "the same old stiletto" in declaring yesterday that Johnson could not be considered a liberal or progressive Democrat.

(A reporter at the president's press conference yesterday said that Johnson, who supported Mr. Roosevelt in 1932, was a candidate for renomination on the Republican, Democratic and Progressive tickets. He asked the president for comment. Mr. Roosevelt replied that he did not think anyone could consider Johnson a liberal or progressive Democrat in the year 1940.)

8,000 ENTRAIN FOR MANEUVERS

Harrisburg, Aug. 2.—(T)—More than 8,000 Pennsylvania citizen-soldiers will pile their equipment and themselves into 19 special trains at their home stations, clear across the state, Sunday and Monday, for the long haul to northern New York state and three weeks of make-believe war.

Augmenting the transportation of approximately 6,000 other officers and enlisted men by motorized equipment, 191 railroad coaches and 78 baggage cars will be required to carry Pennsylvania's share of the nation's first army to the site of one of the most extensive peace-time history.

Some of the men in khaki will be more than 24 hours en route as the special trains pick up additional units along the way.

MASONRY DISSOLVED IN FRANCE

In Directing Dissolution of Order and Other Secret Societies, Petain Regime Follows Example Set by Totalitarian Governments Abroad in Seeking to Control All Organizations Likely to Exert Too Much Influence

NEW DECREES RESTRICT SALE OF FOODSTUFFS

Vichy, France, Aug. 3.—(T)—The Petain government has ordered dissolution of Freemasonry and all other secret societies in France, it was announced today.

The press charged Freemasonry with offenses ranging from sapping the morale of France to undermining Marshal Petain's efforts to re-establish the "work, family and fatherland" idea among the people.

The newspaper Le Nouvelliste of Lyon declared "our foreign enemies never would have been able to succeed against us if France had not been literally assassinated by the venom of secret lodges."

Charging that Freemasons methodically applied their international orders to the constant detriment of France, Le Nouvelliste said "they not only worked to dechristianize the country but also to corrupt and destroy the three principles Marshal Petain has decided to re-establish in all their essential virtues: work, family and fatherland."

The press said Freemasons got their representatives into public office where they wielded their influence against the nation's Catholic faith and built up a spirit of "hypocrisy, tyranny, defeatism and hate."

(The German radio yesterday said anti-Jewish demonstrations were reported at Nice, France, Thursday, quoting the newspaper Eclair: "De Nice as saying plate glass windows of Jewish-owned shops were smashed by demonstrators who were 'down with the Jews' and 'Freemasons' in large red letters on entrances.")

The weekly Gringoire asserted Free Masons had governed France "openly" since the fall of the Blum popular front regime and named Edouard Daladier and Camille Chautemps, former premiers; Albert Sarraut and Yvon Delbos, both (Turn to Page Nine)

BRITISH HOME GUARD IS READY TO FIGHT BOCHE

By DREW MIDDLETON
With the British Field Army's Northern Command, Aug. 3.—(T)—Minute men of 1940, some 1,250,000 home guard volunteers stand today behind Britain's seasoned first line troops, ready, their officers say, to "put their ammunition on the dining room table and fight from there."

Few of these volunteers had military training before the war and many never touched a rifle until a month ago, but they are now an integral part of Britain's elaborate defense system.

"Give them a position to hold," said one veteran staff officer confidently, "and they'll hold it until the regulars can come up and hit the Boche."

Most of the volunteers do their soldiering in addition to putting in eight hours of work at their regular jobs.

Fishermen, farmers, factory hands, hotel waiters, shopkeepers and bank clerks, they rise before dawn for the long haul to northern New York state and three weeks of make-believe war.

Augmenting the transportation of approximately 6,000 other officers and enlisted men by motorized equipment, 191 railroad coaches and 78 baggage cars will be required to carry Pennsylvania's share of the nation's first army to the site of one of the most extensive peace-time history.

All Crippled Children in County Able to Attend to be Brought to Big Circus in Warren on Monday

Lodges and Service Clubs With Other Organizations and Individuals Cooperating to Provide Entertainment for Inmates of Homes

IS ARRIVING SUNDAY

Monday is circus day in Warren! On that day the Warren County Shrine Club is bringing here the Hamid-Morton circus, featuring Clyde Beatty and his wild animal acts. The show is coming here in a benefit for the Zenn Zenn Hospital at Erie, which each year cares for hundreds of crippled children, including many from Warren county.

The circus, which is ending a three-day stand in Jamestown today, will arrive in Warren early tomorrow morning. Tents will be set up and the entire show will be at the South Side show lot all day tomorrow and Monday.

Performances will be given here at 2:15 and 8:15 p. m. and from the number of tickets already sold by the Warren County Shrine Club, it is expected that capacity audiences will see both performances.

Through the cooperation of the borough, Lions and Kiwanis, all crippled children of the county who are able to attend the circus will be brought here for the afternoon performance and returned to their homes.

The inmates of the Hoffman Children's Home will be taken to the circus and entertained there by Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Jacobson. Children at the Ruth M. Smith Home in Sheffield will be brought here for the performance by the Sheffield Rotary Club.

The Zonta Club, women's service organization, will entertain a group of aged ladies at the circus, it was announced today.

Other local clubs which are cooperating are the Elks, Moose, Liberty Club, Veterans Club, Marconi Club and the North Warren Civic Club.

One local business house purchased a book of 40 tickets and presented it to the Department of Public Assistance office for distribution among worthy relief recipients.

Many Warren business houses have cooperated with the Shrine Club in purchasing tickets. It was reported today. These include the following:

Warren Disposal Company, B. & E. Chevrolet Motor, Lighthouse, Weigel Motor Sales, Pennsolt Company, Stein's, Savoy Cafe, Blue and White Restaurant, East Side Esso Station, Keystone Printing Company, Warren Water Company, Eccley's, Warren Axe and Tool, DeLuxe Metal Furniture, Floridin (Turn to Page Nine)

AIR RAID ALARM ON EAST DANISH COAST

Berlin, Aug. 3.—(T)—(Via Radio) The German wireless today reported an air raid alarm on the east Danish coast was sounded early today when British planes "attempted to attack Copenhagen."

The report said anti-aircraft guns succeeded in driving the raiders away, and that Swedish anti-aircraft batteries frequently fired at British planes flying over Swedish territory.

NEW DEAL FOE DIES

Washington, Aug. 3.—(T)—John Raymond McCarl, 60, former comptroller general who died of a heart attack yesterday, will be buried Monday at McCarl, Neb. McCarl was appointed in 1921 for a 35-year term as comptroller general and had been involved with the Roosevelt administration in arguments over many New Deal expenditures. When his term expired, he remained here to practice law.

G. O. P. CAMPAIGN BEING GEARED UP

BY WILLIAM B. ARDERY
Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 3.—(T)—Wendell L. Willkie conferred with Republican organization leaders today and said he was getting his campaign "geared up and ready to start with a bang."

Chairman Joe Martin of the Republican national committee, who headed the group of visiting party leaders, attended a press conference with Willkie shortly before midnight last night.

Willkie said he would make clear his position on conscription in his August 17 acceptance address at Elwood, Ind.

In addition to Martin, those here for today's conferences were Henry P. Fletcher, national committee counsel; Charles P. Goodspeed, (Turn to Page Nine)

NAZI AIR FORCE PREPARED FOR BLANKET RAIDS

Aviation General Hints of Imminence of Paralyzing Attack That Would Strike Simultaneously at Numerous Objectives in England

CLAIMS SUPERIORITY

Associated Press Foreign Writer
Berlin, Aug. 3.—(T)—Aviation General Karl Schweighardt, supporting the Nazi press contention that Germany's present bombardments of Britain are "mere pin pricks," said today the Nazi air force is in position to carry out a paralyzing blanket attack which would strike simultaneously at numerous objectives in the British Isles.

Gen. Schweighardt hinted at the imminence of such a mass onslaught in an article in the Schlesische Zeitung, written at the end of a week during which the Germans have staged steady raids on sea ports, air fields, shipping and armament centers.

In future conduct of aerial warfare, Gen. Schweighardt maintained, the advantage definitely lies with Germany.

One reason, he said, was Britain's "greater vulnerability from the air through lack of a trained air defense force and sufficient fighter plane protection. England's endangered area, relatively speaking, is compressed more closely, compared to German industrial plants which are spread over a broad territory."

The aviation general, further to emphasize his claims for Nazi superiority, then enumerated these points:

"The fact that Germany has few types of war planes, while Britain uses many English and American models and therefore must encounter difficulty in replacements and repairs;

"The unlimited capacity of the German airplane industry, where (Turn to Page Nine)

PROBE REPORTS OF THE ORIGIN OF CAMDEN FIRE

Camden, N. J., Aug. 3.—(T)—Fire Chief Joseph Lennox said today he is investigating two additional reports of the origin of the $2,000,000 fire which wrecked the R. M. Hollingshead Company Paint plant and left five known dead and four missing Tuesday.

One, he said, is that three hours before the first explosion started the conflagration, a small fire was discovered and extinguished in the building. The second is that one of the employees occasionally made coffee on an electric plate in the basement below the filling room where the first blast is believed to have originated.

Previously, Lennox and other authorities blamed a spark from a repairman's wrench for touching off the explosion.

Lennox emphasized his latest information was not positive, but that he believed it worthy of careful investigation.

R. M. Hollingshead, Sr., company president, said he had heard of neither report.

Meanwhile, workmen continued to sort through debris for the bodies of four persons who are still listed as missing. Parts of three bodies have been recovered and two other persons died in a hospital. Several others remain in critical condition.

M'NEILL WINS FINALS

UNEMPLOYMENT CIVIL SERVICE LISTS VACATED

Secretary of Labor and Industry Contends They Are Depleted and That There Has Been a Large Percentage of "Fraud and Falsification"

SEEKS NEW SCHEDULE

By PAUL MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer
Harrisburg, Aug. 3.—(T)—

Lewis G. Hines, secretary of labor and industry, today threw out all civil service lists for jobs paying more than $1800 a year in the Unemployment Compensation Bureau, contending the lists are depleted and that there was a large percentage of "fraud and falsification."

He asked that the Federal Social Security Board advance funds to conduct an entire new schedule of merit system tests, and said he will go to Washington Monday to discuss the proposal with Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator.

The secretary pointed out that the last examinations were given in November, 1937, and that he has authority to "void" all eligible lists after two years.

The lists thrown out included an undetermined number of persons eligible for appointment to administrative, accounting, managerial, statistical, visitors, upper clerical and stenographic jobs.

Hines declared he was backed up by an opinion from the Department of Justice, holding he can not jump from one eligible list to another in different job classification, in making civil service appointments.

The law specified that all personnel in the bureau be appointed (Turn to Page Nine)

BIZARRE PLOT IS UNCOVERED IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Aug. 3.—(T)—A bizarre $100,000 extortion and bombing plot, whose fantastic features included a scheme for a getaway in a tiny, home-made submarine, was broken up by police with the arrest of three young Milwaukee men.

The three, held pending issuance of warrants today, were a 23-year-old ornamental iron worker, his brother, 27, and a 28-year-old companion, Detective Lieut. Eugene O'Gorman said.

The youngest man, O'Gorman said, admitted after his arrest yesterday, that he made and piloted a bomb which exploded harmlessly in a northside Spaulding and Company store last July 24, and also sending of a series of letters to Store Manager Rowland H. Davis demanding $100,000 under threat that "a bomb 200 times larger will go off at your south side store besides your own life will be in danger. x x x"

The extortion plot was solved when police found a scrap of ornamental iron wire, similar to that used in the trigger of the bomb.

The submarine, a flimsy seven-foot long contraption made of sheet metal, was discovered in the basement of the home of the youngest man. Light enough for two persons to lift onto a trailer, it was powered by two storage batteries and an automobile starter motor, and equipped with a crude conning tower, diving fins, and oxygen tank.

The youth said he intended to pick up the extortion money as it was dropped from an airplane out over Lake Michigan under a plan outlined in a letter to Davis, and then submerge and make his getaway.

Woodring suggested that conscription become operative only when the army chief of staff should certify that the voluntary (Turn to Page Nine)

PLANS HEARINGS ON SINGLE SIX-YEAR TERM

Washington, Aug. 3.—(T)—Senator Burke (D-Neb.) said today that he had written to "150 persons opposed to a third term for a president" asking them to testify on his proposed constitutional amendment for a single six-year presidential term.

The Nebraska senator, who recently announced his support of Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican presidential nominee, said that public hearings would start soon before a senate judiciary subcommittee.

The single six-year term proposal, if approved by congress, would not be effective until ratified by 35 states.

Conflict Between German Necessities and French Desires Impedes Return to Paris

Berlin, Aug. 3.—(T)—The chief obstacle to return of the French government to Paris appeared today to be a conflict between German military necessities and the French desire for a capital free of Nazi troops.

Although anxious to return to Paris, the French were reported to have pleaded that they could not govern their country efficiently if hampered by the presence of German troops within the capital.

Germany, however, seems unwilling to withdraw her forces from such a large area until the war with Britain is ended and a peace treaty actually signed.

SENATE TO SEE FIGHT ON DRAFT

Opponents of Compulsory Military Training Talking of Forming a Bi-Partisan Bloc for Battle Against Peacetime Conscription Advocated by President When Measure Is Presented on the Floor Probably Some Time Next Week

LOSE FIRST SKIRMISH BEFORE COMMITTEE

Washington, Aug. 3.—(T)—Opponents of compulsory military training talked today of forming a bi-partisan bloc for a senate floor battle against peacetime conscription advocated by President Roosevelt.

Cheered by a statement of Harry H. Woodring, resigned secretary of war, senators fighting the Burke-Wadsworth bill considered trying to attach a voluntary training system to the measure empowering the president to call out the National Guard and reserve officers.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) told reporters that some organization of "both Republicans and Democrats will be formed to fight conscription with all the vigor we possess."

Although scoffing at the possibility that a filibuster was being organized, he said: "This thing will be thoroughly debated, and of course that debate will take considerable time."

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), another critic of the draft legislation, urged that some system of voluntary enlistment for a year's army training be tried along the lines advocated by Woodring.

The former cabinet member wrote Vandenberg advocating "one year voluntary service at $20 per month." At present the minimum enlistment in the armed forces is for three years, with basic pay of $21 a month.

Woodring said that he had proposed seven months ago raising army base pay to $20 a month, but was told that it would be "inconsistent with the financial program of the administration." Higher pay attracts men to the navy and the CCC, he added.

"How any fairminded member of congress," his letter continued, "could say that we have given the voluntary system of enlistment for the U. S. Army a fair trial and that it has been a failure, is beyond my understanding."

Woodring suggested that conscription become operative only when the army chief of staff should certify that the voluntary (Turn to Page Nine)

Striking Grave Diggers Drop Placards to Permit Burial of Relatives of Union Man

Detroit, Aug. 3.—(P)—Striking grave-diggers dropped the placards they carried and abandoned their three-day-old picket-lines to permit the cortege of the wife and son of another union man to enter Woodmere cemetery yesterday, but friends of the family filled the graves.

A leader of the United Cemetery Workers (U.C.W.) called off picketing temporarily. The funeral cortege entered and services proceeded, but no cemetery employees were on hand.

The funeral was that of Mrs. Mabel Gore, 29, and her son, Donald, 7, victims of an automobile collision. Mrs. Gore was the wife of Nicholas Gores, foreman of a union shop that manufactures stoves.

The strike of grave-diggers and other cemetery maintenance workers began Wednesday. The union demanded a wage increase of ten cents an hour, a closed shop and one-week vacations. The cemetery association rejected the closed shop proposal, and objected to seniority provisions included in a contract draft.

Is Johnson Comment
Washington, Aug. 3.—(P)—Senator Hiram Johnson of California, a Republican, said today that President Roosevelt had used "the same old stiletto" in declaring yesterday that Johnson could not be considered a liberal or progressive Democrat.

(A reporter at the president's press conference yesterday said that Johnson, who supported Mr. Roosevelt in 1932, was a candidate for renomination on the Republican, Democratic and Progressive tickets. He asked the president for comment. Mr. Roosevelt replied that he did not think anyone could consider Johnson a liberal or progressive Democrat in the year 1940.)

MacFAYDEN FINED
New York, Aug. 3.—(P)—Danmy MacFayden, Pittsburgh Pirates hurler, was fined $100 today by President Ford Frick of the National League as an aftermath of an argument in last night's game at Philadelphia. Frick said he fined MacFayden for throwing his glove, rushing Umpire Bill Klem and other conduct unbecoming a player on the field. MacFayden protested a called ball by Klem in the tenth inning and was banished from the game.

MASONRY DISSOLVED IN FRANCE

Ir Directing Dissolution of Order and Other Secret Societies, Petain Regime Follows Example Set by Totalitarian Governments Abroad in Seeking to Control all Organizations Likely to Exert Too Much Influence

NEW DECREES RESTRICT SALE OF FOODSTUFFS

Vichy, France, Aug. 3.—(P)—The Petain government has ordered dissolution of Freemasonry and all other secret societies in France, it was announced today.

The press charged Freemasonry with offenses ranging from sapping the morale of France to undermining Marshal Petain's efforts to re-establish the "work, family and fatherland" idea among the people.

The newspaper Le Nouvelliste of Lyon declared "our foreign enemies never would have been able to succeed against us if France had not been literally assassinated by the venom of secret lodges."

Charging that Freemasons methodically applied their international orders to the constant detriment of France, Le Nouvelliste said "they not only worked to dechristianize the country but also to corrupt and destroy the three principles Marshal Petain has decided to re-establish in all their essential virtues: work, family and fatherland."

The press said Freemasons got their representatives into public office where they wielded their influence against the nation's Catholic faith and built up a spirit of "hypocrisy, tyranny, defeatism and hate."

(The German radio yesterday said anti-Jewish demonstrations were reported at Nice, France, Thursday, quoting the newspaper Eclair de Nice as saying plate glass windows of Jewish-owned shops were smashed by demonstrators who wrote "down with the Jews" and "Freemasons" in large red letters on entrances.)

The newspaper reported police arrested several demonstrators who declared that in their view the Jews were to blame for France's disaster, the German announcer said.

The weekly Gringoire asserted Free Masons had governed France "openly" since the fall of the Blum popular front regime and named Edouard Daladier and Camille Chautemps, former premiers; Albert Sarraut and Yvon Delbos, both cabinet members, as Freemasons.

The same syndicate was awarded additional work under its contract at Kodiak.

The navy's action was taken less than 60 days after the War Department announced plans to strengthen the army's ground forces in Alaska.

The War Department announced yesterday that army establishments in Alaska would be among those inspected by four members of the house military appropriations subcommittee this month.

GIBRALTAR FLEET REPORTED SAILING
Grenoble, France, Aug. 3.—(P)—Le Petit Dauphinois published a dispatch from Tangier, Spanish Morocco, today that the British fleet at Gibraltar sailed west into the Atlantic yesterday to aid in the defense of England.

The dispatch said the fleet divided into two groups, included five submarines, seven destroyers, two plane carriers, three cruisers and three auxiliary ships.

8,000 ENTRAIN FOR MANEUVERS
Harrisburg, Aug. 2.—(P)—More than 8,000 Pennsylvania citizen-soldiers will pile their equipment and themselves into 19 special trains at their home stations, clear across the state, Sunday and Monday, for the long haul to northern New York state and three weeks of make-believe war.

Augmenting the transportation of approximately 6,000 other officers and enlisted men by motorized equipment, 191 railroad coaches and 78 baggage cars will be required to carry Pennsylvania's share of the nation's first army to the site of one of the most extensive military camps in the nation's peace-time history.

Some of the men in khaki will be more than 24 hours en route as the special trains pick up additional units along the way.

WEEK'S WEATHER GUESS
Weather outlook for the week beginning Monday:
Great Lakes: Generally fair with temperatures above normal, except occasional shower period and cooler northern portion middle and latter parts of week.
North and Middle Atlantic states: Local showers at beginning of week and again Thursday and Friday. A normally warm week.

All Crippled Children in County Able to Attend to be Brought to Big Circus in Warren on Monday

Lodges and Service Clubs With Other Organizations and Individuals Co-operating to Provide Entertainment for Inmates of Homes

IS ARRIVING SUNDAY

Monday is circus day in Warren! On that day the Warren County Shrine Club is bringing here the Hamid-Morton circus, featuring Clyde Beatty and his wild animal acts. The show is coming here in a benefit for the Zenn Memorial Hospital at Erie, which each year cares for hundreds of crippled children, including many from Warren county.

The circus, which is ending a three-day stand in Jamestown today, will arrive in Warren early tomorrow morning. Tents will be set up and the entire show will be at the South Side show lot all day tomorrow and Monday.

Performances will be given here at 2:15 and 8:15 p. m. and from the number of tickets already sold by the Warren County Shrine Club, it is expected that capacity audiences will see both performances.

Through the cooperation of three men's service clubs of the borough, Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis, all crippled children of the county who are able to attend the circus will be brought here for the afternoon performance and returned to their homes.

The inmates of the Hoffman Children's Home will be taken to the circus and entertained there by Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Jacobson. Children at the Ruth M. Smith Home in Sheffield will be brought here for the performance by the Sheffield Rotary Club.

The Zonta Club, women's service organization, will entertain a group of aged ladies at the circus, it was announced today.

Other local clubs which are co-operating are the Elks, Moose, Liberty Club, Veterans Club, Marconi Club and the North Warren Civic Club.

One local business house purchased a book of 40 tickets and presented it to the Department of Public Assistance office for distribution among worthy relief recipients.

Many Warren business houses have cooperated with the Shrine Club in purchasing tickets, it was reported today. These include the following:

Warren Disposal Company, E. & E. Chevrolet, Motor Lighthouse, Weigel Motor Sales, Pennzoil Company, Stein's, Savoy Cafe, Blue and White Restaurant, East Side Esso Station, Keystone Printing Company, Warren Water Company, Beckley's, Warren Axe and Tool, Deluxe Metal Furniture, Floridin (Turn to Page Nine)

AIR RAID ALARM ON EAST DANISH COAST

Berlin, Aug. 3.—(P via Radio)—The German wireless today reported an air raid alarm on the east Danish coast was sounded early today when British planes "attempted to attack Copenhagen."

The German radio said anti-aircraft guns succeeded in driving the raiders away, and that Swedish anti-aircraft batteries frequently fired at British planes flying over Swedish territory.

NEW DEAL FOE DIES
Washington, Aug. 3.—(P)—John Raymond McCarl, 60, former comptroller general who died of a heart attack yesterday, will be buried Monday at McCook, Neb. McCarl was appointed in 1921 for a 15-year term as comptroller general, had been involved with the Roosevelt administration in arguments over many New Deal expenditures. When his term expired, he remained here to practice law.

G. O. P. CAMPAIGN BEING GEARED UP
Camden, N. J., Aug. 3.—(P)—Fire Chief Joseph Lennox said today he is investigating two additional reports of the origin of the $2,000,000 fire which wrecked the R. M. Hollingshead Company Paint plant and left five known dead and four missing Tuesday.

One, he said, is that three hours before the first explosion started the conflagration, a small fire was discovered and extinguished in the building. The second is that one of the employees occasionally made coffee on an electric plate in the basement below the filling room where the first blast is believed to have originated.

Previously, Lennox and other authorities blamed a spark from a repairman's wrench for touching off the explosion.

Lennox emphasized his latest information was not positive, but that he believed it worthy of careful investigation.

R. M. Hollingshead, Sr., company president, said he had heard of neither report.

Meanwhile, workmen continued to sort through debris for the bodies of four persons who are still listed as missing. Parts of three bodies have been recovered and two other persons died in a hospital. Several others remain in critical condition.

UNEMPLOYMENT CIVIL SERVICE LISTS VACATED
Secretary of Labor and Industry Contends They Are Depleted and That There Has Been a Large Percentage of "Fraud and Falsification"

By PAUL MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer
Harrisburg, Aug. 3.—(P)—Lewis G. Hines, secretary of labor and industry, today threw out all civil service lists for jobs paying more than $1800 a year in the Unemployment Compensation Bureau, contending the lists are depleted and that there was a large percentage of "fraud and falsification."

He asked that the Federal Social Security Board advance funds to conduct an entire new schedule of merit system tests, and said he will go to Washington Monday to discuss the proposal with Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator.

The secretary pointed out that the last examinations were given in November, 1937, and that he has authority to "void" all eligible lists after two years.

The lists thrown out included an undetermined number of persons eligible for appointment to administrative, accounting, managerial, statistical, visitors, upper clerical and stenographic jobs.

Hines declared he was backed up by an opinion from the Department of Justice, holding he can not jump from one eligible list to another in different job classification, in making civil service appointments.

The law specified that all personnel in the bureau be appointed (Turn to Page Nine)

BIZARRE PLOT IS UNCOVERED IN MILWAUKEE
Milwaukee, Aug. 3.—(P)—A bizarre $100,000 extortion and bombing plot—whose fantastic features included a scheme for a getaway in a tiny, home-made submarine—was broken up by police with the arrest of three young Milwaukee men.

The three, held pending issuance of warrants today, were a 23-year-old ornamental iron worker, his brother, 27, and a 28-year-old companion, Detective Lieut. Eugene O'Gorman said.

The youngest man, O'Gorman said, admitted after his arrest yesterday that he made and planted a bomb which exploded harmlessly in a northside Sears Roebuck and Company store last July 24, and also sending of a series of letters to Store Manager Rowland H. Davis demanding $100,000 under threat that "a bomb 200 times larger will go off at your south side store besides your own life will be in danger. x x x"

The extortion plot was solved when police found a scrap of ornamental iron wire, similar to that used in the trigger of the bomb. The submarine, a flimsy seven-foot long contrivance made of sheet metal, was discovered in the basement of the home of the youngest man. Light enough for two persons to lift onto a trailer, it was powered by two storage batteries and an automobile starter motor, and equipped with a crude conning tower, diving fins, and oxygen tank.

The youth said he intended to pick up the extortion money as it was dropped from an airplane over Lake Michigan under a plan outlined in a letter to Davis, and then submerge and make his getaway.

Plans Hearings on Single Six-Year Term
Washington, Aug. 3.—(P)—Senator Burke (D-Neb.) said today that he had written to "150 persons opposed to a third term for president" asking them to testify on his proposed constitutional amendment for a single six-year presidential term.

The Nebraska senator, who recently announced his support of Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican presidential nominee, said that public hearings would start soon before a senate judiciary subcommittee.

The single six-year term proposal, if approved by congress, would not be effective until ratified by 36 states.

Conflict Between German Necessities and French Desires Impedes Return to Paris
Berlin, Aug. 3.—(P)—The chief obstacle to return of the French government to Paris appeared today to be a conflict between German military necessities and the French desire for a capital free of Nazi troops.

Although anxious to return to Paris, the French were reported to have pleaded that they could not govern their country efficiently if hampered by the presence of German troops within the capital.

Germany, however, seems unwilling to withdraw her forces from such a large area until the war with Britain is ended and a peace treaty actually signed.

Paris, it was pointed out here, is one of the most important railway terminals on the continent. Germans contend it is important that transportation facilities should remain in German hands so long as a state of war exists between Britain and Germany.

To meet French desires, Germany offered to withdraw her troops from Versailles if the Petain government wished to locate there, but the French, after studying this proposition, decided that Versailles was not equipped as a seat of modern government.

Paris, it was said, is regarded as the only logical capital by the French.

HOBBY CONTEST ATTRACTS MANY AT PLAYGROUNDS

A large number of Warren youngsters participated in the annual hobby fair contest, held on the local playgrounds Thursday and Friday. Neighborhood contests were held Thursday, with the final event at the Beatty playground yesterday.

Many types of hobbies were displayed. These included stamps, animals, flint arrowheads, match folders, autographs, paper dolls, airplane pictures, handkerchiefs, amateur radio sets and many others.

Winners of the final contests included the following:
Most unique Foreign dolls by Theresa Marie Fino, South Side.
Nearest—Scrapbook of pictures by Eleanor Riggs, Beatty.
Largest Match folders by Valentino Papalia, West Side.
Best arranged—Animals by Theresa Marie Fino, South Side.
Most valuable—Amateur radio set by Helen Walker, Lacy.
Most educational—Stamp collection by Mary Maniakas, South Side.

Judges for the final contest were Miss Emily Eaton, Miss Lorraine Jenkins and Miss Frances Grosch. It was announced today that the annual doll show contest will be held Wednesday afternoon of next week at 2:30 p. m. at each of the local playgrounds. The finals will be held at Beatty on the following day at the same hour.

Through the excellent services of Mrs. Goldie Joy, the New Process Company officers and employees reported to Red Cross headquarters this morning the splendid total of $289.25, which put the War Relief Fund of the Warren County Chapter, American Red Cross, over the $5,500 mark.

The exact total at 10 a. m. today was announced as $5,626.87, leaving a balance of $2,373.13 to be reported before the $8,000 quota is reached.

Because of the length of the list and at the request of New Process officials, only the names of donors and not the amounts are given. They are as follows:

This Was the "Crossroads of the World"

Pulsing heart of a Paris that once symbolized all that made life worthwhile in gracious living was the famed Cafe de la Paix on the Boulevard des Capucines. Here was the "crossroads of the world," where, if you sat at one of the sidewalk tables long enough, "you would see everybody who amounted to anything in the world pass by." Down the boulevard swept an untempered torrent of motor traffic. Horse-drawn traffic was impossible. Above the Boulevard and, in the background, the Cafe, today—lifeless. A cyclist and a peasant's cart merely emphasize the quiet of death. The once-crowded cafe tables are deserted. Tourist crowds are replaced by scattered sightseeing Nazi soldiers, like those at extreme right.

Yesterday---Telephone Today---Radio Tomorrow---Telepathy?

Dr. Charles Francis Potter, founder of the First Humanist Society of New York, is an authority on telepathy and author of books on the subject.

BY DR. CHARLES FRANCIS POTTER

Written for Times-Mirror and NEA Service.

Perhaps telepathy may end war! If, for instance, we should train a few thousand likely young men in the technique of telepathy, choose the best of them for special service and have them focus on the mind of the enemy chief of staff, they would be able to discover his plans as soon as he was aware of them himself.

Since the essence of war is strategy and preparedness, and since telepathy would nullify strategy by anticipating it, the teeth of Mars would be drawn. If every nation knew the supposedly secret plans of every other nation, peace would perforce descend upon this war-weary world.

Yes, it is highly likely that telepathy will play an important role in the world of the future. That may seem an extravagant prophecy to one unaware of the great progress made lately in scientific investigation of the ability of many persons to obtain accurate information without the use of their ordinary senses.

I was a confirmed skeptic about the existence of telepathy, or mind-reading, or clairvoyance, or second sight, or psychic phenomena, or anything of the sort, but several years of careful study and experimentation, as described in my new book, "Beyond the Senses," convinced me that all these supposed occult powers are only various forms of a sort of super-sense ability possessed by a number of people.

There is nothing occult about it: it is a natural faculty, fairly widespread, and capable of development under certain conditions.

Prof. Julian Huxley recently stated that these extraordinary powers "might be developed until they were so commonly distributed as, say, musical, or mathematical gifts are today."

Widespread communication by telepathy may seem incredible today, but radio communication without wires seemed equally incredible only a generation ago.

By the time we have spent as much time, money, effort and skill in developing telepathy as we have on radio, we shall probably look back on radio as we now do on the pony express as a means of communication.

Telepathy will mean great changes in other human activities. Take education, for instance, for we have already discovered by studying telepathy the way mental images change along associational paths in the subconscious and emerge into consciousness. Perhaps good teachers in the future will need neither books nor spoken words to communicate ideas to their pupils, who may be miles away.

Ethics will certainly change. When I was recently lecturing on telepathy, one woman in the audience protested that she wouldn't like people to be able to read her thoughts; it would be very embarrassing at times! "Yes," I said, "but it would have a tendency to improve your ethics."

The DIFFERENCE is....

New Process Company Officials, Employees Add To War Fund Total

HOBBY CONTEST ATTRACTS MANY AT PLAYGROUNDS

Through the excellent services of Mrs. Goldie Joy, the New Process Company officials and employees reported to Red Cross headquarters this morning the splendid total of $289.25, which put the War Relief Fund of the Warren County Chapter, American Red Cross, over the $5,500 mark.

The exact total at 10 a. m. today was announced as $5,626.87, leaving a balance of $2,373.13 to be reported before the $8,000 quota is reached.

Because of the length of the list and at the request of New Process officials, only the names of donors and not the amounts are given. They are as follows:

J. L. Blair, H. W. Blair, Lester A. Blair, H. C. Putnam, H. J. Prue, W. A. Pettibone, Georgia M. Bole, C. C. Park, Bernice Schott, Klair Mead, M. F. Saunders, Charles Hamilton, N. J. HOST TO CHILDREN

Dr. E. N. Jacobson will be host to the children of the Hoffman Home at the Hamid-Morton circus which shows here under the auspices of the Warren County Shrine Club Monday afternoon and evening.

AT 1ST EVANGELICAL

It will interest many old friends and parishioners to know that Rev. C. W. Winch, of Johnstown, former pastor, will be the guest speaker tomorrow morning at the First Evangelical church. Miss Barbara Wagstaff, of Philadelphia, will be the guest soloist, singing "O, Love That Wilt Not Let Me Go." Next week's activities at the First church include the prayer meeting at 7:30 Wednesday evening and the Albright Brotherhood picnic-meeting at 6:30 Tuesday evening.

GAME LANDS

At its meeting July 11 the Game Commission accepted unconditionally 23 offers of land totaling 8,726 acres. The Commission also agreed to purchase a tract of 736.6 acres from another state department when and if available. The Commission accepted one gift of 64 acres in Allegheny County, and made two counter offers totaling 2,750 acres. One of these, totalling 2,350 acres, has already been agreed to by the landowner. Seven offers totalling 4,562.9 acres were rejected by the Commission and action was postponed on 8 offers totalling 7,512.7 acres.

Modern communication was born in the "telegraph signs" which were patented in 1840 by Samuel F. B. Morse.

At one time the English Channel was a great mountain range.

This Was the "Crossroads of the World"

Pulsing heart of a Paris that once symbolized all that made life worthwhile in gracious living was the famed Cafe de la Paix on the Boulevard des Italiens. Here was the "crossroads of the world," where, if you sat at one of the sidewalk tables long enough, "you would see everybody who amounted to anything in the world pass by." Down the boulevard swept an unstemmed torrent of motor traffic. Horse-drawn traffic was impossible. Above are the Boulevard and, in the background, the Cafe, today—lifeless. A cyclist and a peasant's cart merely emphasize the quiet of death. The once-crowded cafe tables are deserted. Tourist crowds are replaced by scattered sight-seeing Nazi soldiers, like those at extreme right.

FOREST OUTINGS

One of the most interesting publications reviewed at this office for some time has just been received from the United States Department of Agriculture, Forest Service, in a booklet called "Forest Outings," written by thirty foresters and edited by Russell Lord.

We can attest to a statement made in a letter that accompanies the booklet, which says "People are taking more and more interest in their national forests. We know this because the number of users and visitors is increasing each year."

Any person who has enjoyed the rare experience of going to any of the nearby picnic places in the Allegheny National Forest will agree that they are used more and more each year. One evening last week scores of families who motored to the Allegheny National park, between Warren and Kinzua, to have a picnic lunch, turned away disappointedly when they found every table filled and all the fire-places busy.

There are 161 national forests comprising over 175,000,000 acres of forests, streams, lakes and grasslands in these United States of ours and in Alaska and Puerto Rico, which, under the management of the U. S. Forest Service, occupy an important segment of our national "out-of-doors" and contribute much to individual and collective well being of all kinds of folks, according to Forest Outings.

The publication, just off the press, is intended, briefly, to indicate existing and potential uses of the national forests as places for recreation and human renewal; the manner in which recreation is fitted into the pattern of coordinated use of all national forest resources; ways by which these public properties help prevent floods and soil erosion and conserve and regulate water used for irrigation, power and domestic purposes; and how the national forests help bring stability and security to families, communities and regions.

Forest Outings is entertaining, written from the viewpoint of the person who likes to go places and do things. It stimulates an urge to get out into the open, to visit more of the magnificent properties which belong to the people of this broad land.

All lovers of the out-of-doors should have a copy. Information regarding the booklet should be addressed to The Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C.

Announcement by the National Defense Advisory Commission in Washington that contracts cleared by the Production Division recently included more than $500,000 worth of work to be done by the National Forge and Ordnance Company at Irvine, is most welcome news, not only to the people of the progressive little village, but to the entire section.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

"THE WAY OUT"
REV. H. BLAIR VARD
Church of the Nazarene

"If I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto myself." (Christ's words as recorded in John's gospel, 12:32).

In a recent survey of public opinion, published in one of our leading magazines, the question was asked, "Taking the world as it is in June, 1940, do you feel optimistic or pessimistic about the future of civilization?" Of the replies, over thirty-six per cent were frankly pessimistic and more than twenty per cent "didn't know." This would make a total of almost fifty-seven per cent of our population who are pessimistic, or doubtful, about the future of our civilization.

There is only one reason for such a condition. It is found in a simple parable, taught by The Master himself. He said, "those who hear these sayings of mine and do them not are like unto that foolish man, who built his house without a foundation. In the storms that beat upon it the house fell, and great was the fall of it."

Too long men have tried to build a social order upon false philosophies. Too long rulers of nations and leaders of men have tried to establish their kingdoms by sheer brute force. Too long individuals have tried to build a happy life without any solid foundation for such happiness. All these have proved worthless in the past and will prove to be worthless as long as they are foolishly tried. In business, politics, international affairs, and in our own lives there is only one way out. That way is Christ.

Men have tried every other way. It is now high time for us to commit ourselves to the way taught by the man of Nazareth. In His way we will find a solution to all the problems that beset our social order. In His way we will find a solution to all the problems that beset us as individuals. In Him, and Him alone, is there hope for mankind.

That this way is the only way and that it will ultimately triumph is certain. Daniel, the prophet of old, saw Christ as a stone cut out of the mountain without hands. This stone smote the image, representing the kingdoms of the world, and it was broken to pieces. The stone filled all the earth. John the revelator, living some hundreds of years after Daniel, saw a vision in which mighty voices from heaven announced, "The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord and of His Christ; and he shall reign forever and ever."

"Jesus shall reign where'er the sun
Does his successive journeys run;
His kingdom spread from shore to shore,
Till moons shall wax and wane no more."

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — Answering the mail orders:
J. L. T., Columbus, Ohio—

You are a little mixed on your dates. Henry A. Wallace voted for Al Smith in 1928 and for President Roosevelt in 1932 but it was not until 1936 that he became a registered Democrat. I don't know why some writers refer to him as a Republican until 1932, unless because it was not until the birth of the New Deal that he stepped into the national political picture. If that's the reason, the date should be 1933, for not until then did he come to Washington.

Mrs. R. M., Reading, Pa.—Yes, I did notice at the Chicago convention that a lot of delegates cast their votes for Franklin D. RUSEvelt. I noticed also that most of those who used that pronunciation were from down east. It was probably the Dutch touch. Then there were those several exuberant delegates who shouted their votes for Franklin De-LAYno Roosevelt. I'll bet the DEL-uh-no family, which is quite prominent in its own right, got bored with that. Maybe the real reason FDR wants a third term is that he feels he'd better stick in the White House until the country learns to pronounce his name.

M. L. B., Cincinnati, Ohio—You are dead right. The vote (franchise) for the District of Columbia is up against a lot of trouble. When I reported recently that something probably would be done about it, I merely meant that the thing was coming to a head. From this distance, there's no telling what may happen, although some House and Senate leaders have announced for it. The matter has been up before ... and defeated. If you must have the truth, one of the biggest bones of contention is the big negro vote here (about 40 per cent).

G. K. D., Evanston, Ill.—Probably before this can get into type, there will be an answer to your question and someone will have been named to the position of James A. Farley. But here and now I can tell you there is a lot of talk that Paul V. McNutt not only will become national chairman of the Democratic party but Postmaster General as well. About the only question is whether FDR has this or something better in mind for McNutt. The point is—what does McNutt want? At this reporting, he has refused to say.

J. F. K., Breckenridge, Tex.—You got me all wrong, Mr. K., but the fault is mine, and I hope to write soon explaining what has been done about the compulsory military training bill. Very likely the bill will come out in entirely different form than the one being shaped up in committee. I would be surprised if it didn't result in the biggest floor fight during the national defense drive.

O. G., Pawnee, Okla.—I trust by now you have your book on letter writing. By the way, Mr. James F. Grady's campaign (if you could tell it that) to make the government departments letter-writing conscious has gained such impetus that the poor man is sort of quadruple-drafted for a third term. In other words, the various federal agencies have discovered that there are few things more important than saying it right when you say it in print. ... something that we writing Johnnies have told them a long time ago. Often, there is no more than an adjective between a libel suit and friendly relations.

What Do You Know About POLITICS?

1. This man resigned from an important government position and was replaced by Judge Robert Porter Patterson of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Who is he?
2. Who was the last cabinet member before Secretary Wallace to run for a national elective office?
3. When and where will Wendell L. Willkie deliver his speech accepting the GOP nomination?
4. What two former Roosevelt appointees announced they would support Mr. Willkie?
5. Fourteen states have primaries during August. Can you name five?

Each full question counts 20. A score of 80 is good.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Sherman Billingsley, the genial Oklahoma refugee who is the genial impresario of the Stork Club, spends a cent and a half or so to send me a post card describing the wonders of his new air-conditioning system. During an evening, it filters out of the natural atmosphere more than 150 quarts of water—or, he adds, more liquid than all the customers are consuming during the same period.

Air-conditioning is a fine thing. Nevertheless, it would be nice if everybody would get together on it. The trouble is that nearly every establishment has its own separate air-conditioning system, and no two of them seem to agree on what temperature is right for the so-called human body, with the result that if you chase around much during the day you pass through a variety of atmospheres comparable to that inflicted on a piece of annealing steel.

Outdoors, it's 90. You step into the building lobby, unair-conditioned, and it's 80. You walk into the elevator, which runs between the unair-conditioned lobby and the air-conditioned offices, and it's 75. You go into the air-conditioned office, and it's down to 65. And you've just been in that atmosphere a couple of hours getting acclimated when it's time to go out to lunch—some restaurant that has its system down to 50. The only solution seems to be W. C. Fields' classic gag. In one of his shows he played a butcher, and every time he stepped into the refrigerator, he carefully donned a bearskin coat.

THIS Associated Press building of ours in Rockefeller Center is just a graveyard of shattered illusions. Downstairs there is a restaurant, and the two leading delegations of regular patrons are the AP men and the glamorous Rockettes from the neighboring Radio City Music Hall, who every day dazzle thousands of people from all over the country with their precision dancing.

Every day the Rockettes march into the restaurant, looking exactly like any other 50 girls in the world getting through with a hard day's work, and everybody asks, "Are those the Rockettes?"

And every day the squads of newspapermen amble into the restaurant, looking pretty much like any other group of men getting through the day's work—although many of them are men who have had adventures all over the globe and whose names are famous. And the waitresses remark, "You fellows don't look like newspapermen."

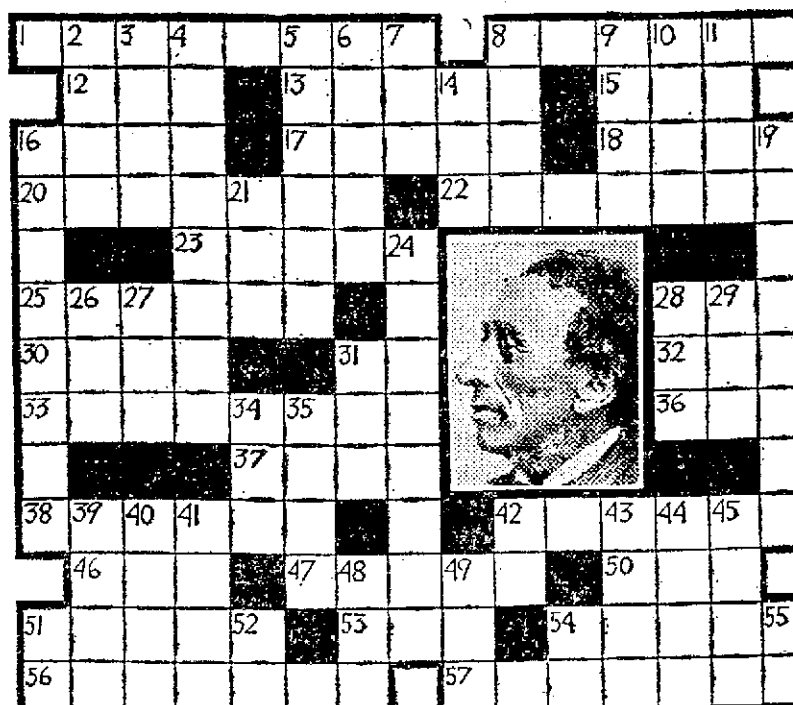

The only answer I can think of is that the waitresses must have been fooled by that old canard of Ben Hecht's, who pictured all reporters in one of his plays as scribes who went around with a pint of whiskey in one pocket, and a copy of the American Mercury in the other.

If some fellow has a patent on coconut-straw hats with a blue band, he won't have to work again, and his grandchildren probably won't either. Four out of five (well, maybe it's only three out of five) men around town are wearing them.

Also, an unusual number of girls are abroad on the Manhattan streets without hats, a condition which has concerned the hat people who are high-pressure with the propaganda that "A woman can't look well without a hat." Conversely, the "progressives" are shouting the plausible argument that an attractive coiffure can be as beautiful as anything the milliners can manufacture from cloth. It's total war, and the casualties are legion.

segment of our national "out-of-doors" and contribute much to individual and collective well being of all kinds of folks, according to Forest Outings.

The publication, just off the press, is intended, briefly, to indicate existing and potential uses of the national forests as places for recreation and human renewal; the manner in which recreation is fitted into the pattern of coordinated use of all national forest resources; ways by which these public properties help prevent floods and soil erosion and conserve and regulate water used for irrigation, power and domestic purposes; and how the national forests help bring stability and security to families, communities and regions.

Forest Outings is entertaining, written from the viewpoint of the person who likes to go places and do things. It stimulates an urge to get out into the open, to visit more of the magnificent properties which belong to the people of this broad land.

All lovers of the out-of-doors should have a copy.
Information regarding the booklet should be addressed to The Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C.

Announcement by the National Defense Advisory Commission in Washington that contracts cleared by the Production Division recently included more than $500,000 worth of work to be done by the National Forge and Ordnance Company at Irvine, is most welcome news, not only to the people of the progressive little village, but to the entire section.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

"THE WAY OUT"
REV. H. BLAIR WARD
Church of the Nazarene

"I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto myself." (Christ's words as recorded in John's gospel, 12:32).

In a recent survey of public opinion, published in one of our leading magazines, the question was asked, "Taking the world as it is in June, 1940, do you feel optimistic or pessimistic about the future of civilization?" Of the replies, over thirty-six per cent were frankly pessimistic and more than twenty per cent "didn't know". This would make a total of almost fifty-seven percent of our population who are pessimistic, or doubtful, about the future of our civilization.

There is only one reason for such a condition. It is found in a simple parable, taught by The Master himself. He said, "those who hear these sayings of mine and do them not are like unto that foolish man, who built his house without a foundation. In the storms that beat upon it the house fell, and great was the fall of it."

Too long men have tried to build a social order upon false philosophies. Too long rulers of nations and leaders of men have tried to establish their kingdoms by sheer brute force. Too long individuals have tried to build a happy life without any solid foundation for such happiness. All these have proved worthless in the past and will prove to be worthless as long as they are foolishly tried. In business, politics, international affairs, and in our own lives there is only one way out. That way is Christ.

Men have tried every other way. It is now high time for us to commit ourselves to the way taught by the man of Nazareth. In His way we will find a solution to all the problems that beset our social order. In His way we will find a solution to all the problems that beset us as individuals. In Him, and Him alone, is there hope for mankind.

That this way is the only way and that it will ultimately triumph is certain. Daniel, the prophet of old, saw Christ as a stone cut out of the mountain without hands. This stone broke the image, representing the kingdoms of the world, and it was smote to pieces.
The stone filled all the earth. John the revelator, living some hundreds of years after Daniel, saw a vision in which mighty voices from heaven announced, "The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord and of his Christ; and he shall reign forever and ever."

"Jesus shall reign where'er the sun
Does his successive journeys run;
His kingdom spread from shore to shore,
Till moons shall wax and wane no more."

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — Answering the mail orders:

J. L. T., Columbus, Ohio—
You are a little mixed on your dates. Henry A. Wallace voted for Al Smith in 1928 and for President Roosevelt in 1932 but it was not until 1936 that he became a registered Democrat. I don't know why some writers refer to him as a Republican until 1932, unless because it was not until the birth of the New Deal that he stepped into the national political picture. If that's the reason, the date should be 1933, for not until then did he come to Washington.

Mrs. R. M., Reading, Pa.—Yes,
I did notice at the Chicago convention that a lot of delegates cast their votes for Franklin D.
Roosevelt. I noticed also that most of those who used that pronunciation were from down east.
It was probably the Dutch touch.
Then there were those several exuberant delegates who shouted their votes for Franklin De-LAY.
No Roosevelt, I'll bet the DEL-uh-no family, which is quite prominent in its own right, got bored with that. Maybe the real reason FDR wants a third term is that he feels he'd better stick in the White House until the country learns to pronounce his name.

M. L. B., Cincinnati, Ohio—You are dead right. The vote (franchise) for the District of Columbia is up against a lot of trouble.
When I reported recently that something probably would be done about it, I merely meant that the thing was coming to a head. From this distance, there's no telling what may happen, although some House and Senate leaders have announced for it.
The matter has been up before ... and defeated. If you must have the truth, one of the biggest bones of contention is the big negro vote here (about 40 percent).

G. K. D., Evanston, Ill.—Probably before this can get into type, there will be an answer to your question and someone will have been named to the position of James A. Farley. But here and now I can tell you there is a lot of talk that Paul V. McNutt not only will become national chairman of the Democratic party but Postmaster General as well.
About the only question is whether FDR has this or something better in mind for McNutt. The point is—what does McNutt want? At this reporting, he has refused to say.

J. F. K., Breckenridge, Tex.—
You got me all wrong, Mr. K., but the fault is mine, and I hope to write soon explaining what has been done about the compulsory military training bill. Very likely the bill will come out in entirely different form than the one being shaped up in committee. I would be surprised if it didn't result in the biggest floor fight during the national defense drive.

O. G., Pawnee, Okla.—I trust by now you have your book on letter writing. By the way, Mr. James E. Grace's campaign (if you could call it that) to make the government departments letter-writing conscious has gained such impetus that the poor man is sort of quadruple-drafted for a third term. In other words, the various federal agencies have discovered that there are few things more important than saying it right when you say it in print. ... something that we writing Johnnies have told them a long time ago.
Often, there is no more than an adjective between a libel suit and friendly relations.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1920 In 1930

The stage is set for the great parade to be held on Pennsylvania Day, Sept. 9th in connection with Old Home Week. The parade will be several blocks in length and hundreds of vehicles and thousands of persons will participate. It will depict the rise and progress of Warren in four acts or divisions.

Within a few days the Pennsylvania Gas Company will begin sending out to consumers detailed instructions for the conservation of gas. The company has pointed out that consumers must conserve the gas. After November first patrons must comply to conservation rules or gas will be discontinued.

The New York Central train this morning was crowded to standing room with people bound for Grand Valley where they were going to attend the annual I. O.
O. F. picnic.

Frank Waters, G. Edris, M. Mc-Marrow and J. Wunderly passed their Life Saving Tests at the Y.
M. C. A. last evening.

Mrs. M. C. Parshall left this morning for New York via automobile where she will spend some time.

Mrs. Ella Cooney, of Irvine, spent the day in Warren shopping.

Although Warren and vicinity received a heavy rain last yesterday afternoon, firefighters of the federal and state forestry departments are still working under a heavy handicap at the Gulton Run fire near Marienville. The fire is under control today but sixty or seventy men are remaining on patrol.

The best news given out since the development of the airport was started some weeks ago came from the office of the Warren Airways, Inc., this afternoon in the announcement that the Associated Gas and Electric Corp., has completed arrangements to start the removal of high tension wires near the field.

Ray Eysinger, mullball league head in Warren, this morning announced the schedule for the Little World Series, to be played among the three league winners starting next Monday. The teams are the Refiners of the Eastern circuit, Conway Barbers of the Southern, and the St. Joseph Cadets or the Julianos, of the Western League.

The heavy rain last evening did nothing to dampen the spirit of Frank Massa, local tree-sitter, who has been in the leafy perch more than ten days.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Sherman
Billingsley, the genial Oklahoma refugee who is the genial impresario of the Stork club, spends a cent and a half or so to send me a post card describing the wonders of his new air-conditioning system. During an evening, it filters out of the natural atmosphere more than 150 quarts of water—or, he adds, more liquid than all the customers are consuming during the same period.

Air-conditioning is a fine thing.
Nevertheless, it would be nice if everybody would get together on it. The trouble is that nearly every establishment has its own separate air-conditioning system, and no two of them seem to agree on what temperature is right for the so-called human body, with the result that if you chase around much during the day you pass through a variety of atmospheres comparable to that inflicted on a piece of annealing steel.

Outdoors, it's 90. You step into the building lobby, unair-conditioned, and it's 80. You walk into the elevator, which runs between the air-conditioned lobby and the unair-conditioned offices, and it's 75. You go into the air-conditioned office, and it's down to 65.
And you've just been in that atmosphere a couple of hours getting acclimated when it's time to go out to lunch—to some restaurant that has its system down to 50. The only solution seems to be
W. C. Fields' classic gag. In one of his shows he played a butcher, and every time he stepped into the refrigerator, he carefully donned a bearskin coat.

THIS Associated Press building of ours in Rockefeller Center is just a graveyard of shattered illusions. Downstairs there is a restaurant, and the two leading delegations of regular patrons are the AP men and the glamorous Rockettes from the neighboring Radio City Music Hall, who every day dazzle thousands of people from all over the country with their precision dancing.

Every day the Rockettes march into the restaurant, looking exactly like any other 50 girls in the world getting through with a hard day's work, and everybody asks, "Are those the Rockettes?"

And every day the squads of newspapermen amble into the restaurant, looking pretty much like any other group of men getting through the day's work—although many of them are men who have had adventures all over the globe and whose names are famous. And the waitresses remark, "You fellows don't look like newspapermen."

The only answer I can think of is that the waitresses must have been fooled by that old canard of Ben Hecht's, who pictured all reporters in one of his plays as scribes, who went around with a pint of whiskey in one pocket, and a copy of the American Mercury in the other.

If SOME fellow has a patent on coconut-straw hats with a blue band, he won't have to work again and his grandchildren probably won't either. Four out of five (well, maybe it's only three out of five) men around there are wearing them.

Also, an unusual number of girls are abroad on the Manhattan streets without hats, a condition which has concerned the hat people who are high-presuring with the propaganda that "A woman can't look well without a hat." Conversely, the "progressives" are shouting the plausible argument that an attractive coif-ing can be as beautiful as anything the milliners can manufacture from cloth. It's total war, and the casualties are legion.

Each year there is an increase in the number of tournament players throughout the country. Tournaments provide economical group recreation. The spirit of competition runs high and attracts the interest of a truly democratic group.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Abel, of Clarksville, Miss., have done much to develop tournament bridge in northern Mississippi and western Tennessee. Recently they were members of the team-of-four winning the Cotton Belt championship at Memphis, and here is one of the hands that helped them to win the championship.

When West's ace of clubs held the opening trick, he continued with a club, and right at this point, Abel began to look ahead. Would you have discarded the diamond four from the South hand? It might have cost you a needed trick.

Abel correctly discarded the diamond nine, cashed two rounds of trumps and led the jack of diamonds. West refused to cover and East won, returning a heart. South won, took out all of the trumps, then led the 10 of diamonds. Again West refused to cover and Abel led the diamond four. Thus he was able to make three diamond tricks, losing only a club, a diamond and a heart.

Helen Dyson Names Date for Marriage To Elmer Elmquist

Miss Jane Greer gave a 6:30 o'clock dinner party last evening to compliment Miss Helen Dyson and to announce that the honored guest will be an August bride.

Miss Dyson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dyson, 126 Elm street, has chosen August 16 for her marriage to Elmer Elmquist, son of Mrs. Isaac Elmquist, of Sheffield.

Table appointments were carried out in yellow and white, with announcement of the coming event revealed on tiny cards concealed beneath a centerpiece of yellow daisies and white phlox.

Prizes for an evening of bunco were awarded to Miss Bertha Elmquist for high score and to Miss Ann Olson for low.

Others on the guest list were Joyce Dickinson, Jeanette Olson, Gloria Boston, Doris Anderson, Betty Ann Johnson, Mrs. Harry Kershaw and Mrs. Charles Johnson.

Evening Sweaters Continue Popular

You'll like sheer wools with embroidered dots in contrasting colors. And you'll like costume suits, such as the one shown here, including a two-piece dress—the skirt gray, the top magenta—and a long, tubular jacket in black, white and gray plaid.

Evening sweaters threaten to continue to be as popular next winter as they were last. One of dove blue chenille, with gold and silver embroidery in plum design, is shown with a dove blue silk shirt. Another, in the collection of American designer Jean Derby, is made in one piece with a bouffant skirt of silver duchess satin. The hand-knit top, with long sleeves and high neck, is grayish-blue and silver.

Elaborate "Slacks" Take Spotlight

Dinner and hostess pajamas are taking the informal evening spotlight again. Stunning wide-bottomed "slacks" of peacock blue duchess satin are teamed up with a dolman-sleeved top of rust crepe. Black velvet trousers pleated at the waistline, are shown with a romantic, ecru lace blouse over a bluish-pink chiffon camisole. A tailored dinner suit of dove gray corduroy includes slacks, a jacket with dolman sleeves and a pleated back and a fire engine red shirt of thin wool jersey.

In evening gowns as well as day clothes, there's side drapery galore. Many dinner skirts are

Each year there is an increase in the number of tournament players throughout the country. Tournaments provide economical group recreation. The spirit of competition runs high and attracts the interest of a truly democratic group.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Abel, of Clarksburg, Miss., have done much to develop tournament bridge in northern Mississippi and western Tennessee. Recently they were members of the team of four winning the Cotton Belt championship at Memphis, and here is one of the hands that helped them to win the championship.

When West's ace of clubs held the opening trick, he continued with a club, and right at this point, Abel began to look ahead. Would you have discarded the diamond four from the South hand? It might have cost you a needed trick.

Abel correctly discarded the diamond nine, cashed two rounds of trumps and led the jack of diamonds. West refused to cover and East won, returning a heart. South won, took out all of the trumps, then led the 10 of diamonds. Again West refused to cover and Abel led the diamond four. Thus he was able to make three diamond tricks, losing only a club, a diamond and a heart.

Uncle Sam's New Head Accountant

Being Uncle Sam's chief accountant and debt-collector is the new job of Representative Lindsay Warren, above, of North Carolina. President Roosevelt recently named him Comptroller General of U. S.

Rev. Ralph Baney, of the Society for Christian Approach to the Jew, will conduct an illustrated lecture in the church auditorium. This lecture deals with Mr. Baney's missionary efforts in the Holy Land and in Germany. It is a nearly fantastic story and is well worth hearing. The general public is invited. A free will offering will be taken for the benefit of Mr. Baney's work. F. H. Hetrick.

You'll Fall For Autumn Fashions

COSTUME SUIT IS FEATURED

A tubular-line jacket in gray, black and white wool plaid is shown over a dress with gray tweed skirt and magenta shirt top. The outfit would be perfect for college or career girl.

BY MARIAN YOUNG

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

New York—You won't see fall clothes in your favorite stores for at least another month, but I have been seeing them in manufacturers' show-rooms, and I thought you might like to know that they are truly handsome.

You won't mind shedding your beloved summer cottons and linens for suave black silk crepe day dresses with slightly slimmer skirts and easy-fitting bodices.

Evening Sweaters Continue Popular

You'll like sheer wools with embroidered dots in contrasting colors. And you'll like costume suits, such as the one shown here, including a two-piece dress—the skirt gray, the top magenta—and a long, tubular jacket in black, white and gray plaid.

Evening sweaters threaten to continue to be as popular next winter as they were last. One of dove blue chenille, with gold and silver embroidery in plume design, is shown with a dove blue silk shirt. Another, in the collection of American designer Jane Derby, is made in one piece with a bouffant skirt of silver duchess satin. The hand-knit top, with long sleeves and high neck, is grayish-blue and silver.

Elaborate "Slacks" Take Spotlight

Dinner and hostess pajamas are taking the informal evening spotlight again. Stunning, wide-bottomed "slacks" of peacock blue with duchess satin are teamed up with a dolman-sleeved top of mist crepe. Black velvet trousers, pleated at the waistline, are shown with a romantic, ecru lace blouse over a bluish-pink chiffon camisole. A tailored dinner suit of dove gray corduroy includes slacks, a jacket with dolman sleeves and a pleated back and a fire engine red shirt of thin wool jersey.

In evening gowns as well as day clothes, there's side drapery galore. Many dinner skirts are slit at the front or at the side. The kind of dinner costume reminiscent of Flemish paintings, is repeated in several collections—complete with little Dutch cap.

Gray wool with widely spaced, red and gold embroidered figures makes this smart fall dress. It has a bloused back and long, tight sleeves. Skirt fullness is restrained.

EVENING CALLS FOR SWEATERS

Evening sweaters will be fashion right again next fall and winter. This one, of dove blue chenille with gold and silver embroidery, is shown with a dove blue silk skirt.

God, thou art my God . . . Because thy loving kindness is better than life, my lips shall praise thee! (Psalms 63:1, 3).

Among Bible citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon is the following: "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God, and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love. . . . No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us" (I John 4: 7, 8, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "People go into ecstasies over the sense of a corporal Jehovah, though with scarcely a spark of love in their hearts; yet God is Love, and without Love, God, immortality cannot appear. . . . Mortals believe in a finite personal God, while God is infinite Love, which must be unlimited" (p. 312).

Your Screen Test

By ROBBIN COONS

1. The girl in the picture, recently spotlighted for a striking dramatic performance, was tested on arrival in Hollywood for what famous fantasy picture? Did she get it? If not, who did?
2. What top-line star and his studio recently severed an eight-year association? After what performance deemed the best of his career? And why?
3. Name two famous radio "feuds" carried over into pictures starring the feudists.
4. Hollywood's crying needs at the moment are: (a) New leading men, (b) A good five-cent cigar, (c) A novelty revolution comparable to the talkies, (d) More pretty girls, (e) Greater box-office returns from the domestic market. Yes or no?
5. Two stellar mammas increased the Hollywood population recently. Who are they—and who are the papas?

Count 20 points for each question correctly answered. A score of 60 is good, 80 excellent, and 90 or above colossal.

(Answers On Page Five)

Hollywood Sights & Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — What to do, What to make? What kind of pictures to make. War or no-war, heavy or light? Hollywood is answering the questions with generalities which may or may not mean anything. Hollywood also answers the questions with production plans, and here are the films they are making or talking about making, this summer or later.

"Billy the Kid" will give Robert Taylor another Hi-Mister hero role, miles removed from the Hey-Kid pretty-boy assignments of some of his past features. "Santa Fe Trail" will claim Errol Flynn for another in the "Dodge City" "Virginia City" chain. "Silver Queen" a tale of Alaska's gold rush, is booked for Claire Trevor "When the Daltons Rode" is nearing completion with Ray Francis and Randolph Scott. "Rangers of Fortune" and "Texas" and "Brigham Young" and "Arizona" and "Return of Frank James" and "Cheyenne Strip" and "Kit Carson" (with John Hall) are others making it appear that the West still is safe for the screen. Add "Calamity Jane" and a few more and you've got what looks like a first-class cycle.

There'll be sweetness and light, comedy and romance "Little Men and Laddie" and "Honey Moon for Three" (Ann Sheridan-George Brent) and more of "Dr. Christian" (Jean Hecstnolt) and "Three Girls and a Gob" (Harold Lloyd production) and "Her Father's Daughter" (by Gene Kratton-Potter, also author of "Laddie").

There'll be stage plays ranging from "The Letter" and "Philadelphia Story" to "The Knew What They Wanted" and "The Constant Nymph."

There'll be serious stuff, but not so much. "Florian" the Fredric March picture "Secret Army," the Fifth Column yarn. "Sister Carrie," the Dreiser story.

The great outdoors (apart from the westerns) calls DeMille once again. "Reap the Wild Wind," story of the Florida keys, is his next.

It looks in plans like a summer of "business as usual."

God, thou art my God . . . Because thy loving kindness is better than life, my lips shall praise thee" (Psalms 63:1,3).

Among Bible citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon is the following: "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love . . . No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us" (I John 4:7, 8, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "People go into ecstasies over the sense of a corporal Jehovah, though with scarcely a spark of love in their hearts; yet God, Love, and without Love, God, immortality cannot appear . . . Mortals believe in a finite personal God; while God is infinite Love, which must be unlimited" (p. 312).

Your Screen Test

By ROBBIN COONS

1. The girl in the picture, recently spotlighted for a striking dramatic performance, was tested on arrival in Hollywood for what famous fantasy picture? Did she get it? If not, who did?
2. What top-line star and his studio recently severed an eight-year association? After what performance deemed the best of his career? And why?
3. Name two famous radio "feuds" carried over into pictures starring the feudists.
4. Hollywood's crying needs at the moment are: (a) New leading men, (b) A good five-cent cigar, (c) A novelty revolution comparable to the talkies, (d) More pretty girls, (e) Greater box-office returns from the domestic market. Yes or no?
5. Two stellar mamas increased the Hollywood population recently. Who are they—and who are the papas?

Count 20 points for each question correctly answered. A score of 60 is good, 80 excellent, and 90 or above colossal.

(Answers On Page Five)

Hollywood Sights & Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—What to do. What to do? What kind of pictures to make. War or no-war, heavy or light?

Hollywood is answering the questions with generalities which may or may not mean anything. Hollywood also answers the questions with production plans, and here are the films they're making or talking about making, this summer or later:

"Billy the Kid" will give Robert Taylor another Hi-Mister he-man role, miles removed from the Hey-Kid pretty-boy assignments of some of his past features. "Santa Fe Trail" will claim Errol Flynn for another in the "Dodge City"—"Virginia City" chain.

"Silver Queen," yarn of Alaska's gold rush, is booked for Claire Trevor. When the Daltons Rode" is nearing completion with Kay Francis and Randolph Scott. "Rangers of Fortune" and "Texas" and "Brigham Young" and "Arizona" and "Return of Frank James" and "Cherokee Strip" and "Kit Carson" (with John Hall) are others making it appear that the West still is safe for the screen. Add "Calamity Jane" and a few more and you've got what looks like a first-class cycle.

There'll be serious stuff, but not so much. "Flotsam," the Fredric March picture, "Secret Army," the Fifth Column yarn. "Sister Carrie," the Dreiser story.

The great outdoors (apart from the westerns) calls DeMille once again. "Reap the Wild Wind," story of the Florida keys, is his next.

It looks, in plans, like a summer of "business as usual."

KOVACS FINALLY DEFEATS BOBBY; M'NEILL WINNER

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(AP) Under the showers at the Meadow Club yesterday, Frank Kovacs called cheerfully to Don McNeill.

"We've certainly come a long way in the past two years, haven't we, Don?"

To this, McNeill responded, "Uh-huh."

There's no contesting the truth of the lanky Oakland, Calif., boy's statement, but that conversation was a good tip-off to the contrasting mental attitudes of the two players. Two years ago they were a pair of promising young tennis players. Today they meet in the final of the Meadow Club Invitation tournament, one of the major events of the eastern turf court season.

Kovacs yesterday eliminated National Champion Bobby Riggs, three-time winner of the tourney, 6-4, 7-9, 6-4, 6-2, interspersing his performance with an equally outstanding display of histrionics. McNeill, on an adjoining court, crushed Elwood Cooke, 6-0, 6-4, 6-1.

Today's final will be a meeting between a bubbling personality kid and a staid, business-like player whose aim is to dispatch his opponent as quickly as possible and who is willing to let the gallery be entertained solely by the quality of the tennis.

Kovacs, defeating Riggs for the first time in seven meetings over a three-year period, did the following:

He ordered a ball boy standing behind Riggs to move so he could serve to Bobby without being obstructed. Later, he punched an easy overhead smash, hit punched his temples and exclaimed, "It can't happen here." He let his racket sail into the gallery after swinging at a drive, recovered it and inquired solicitously if anyone had been injured. Then he told a woman in the audience to remove her glasses. When Riggs switched to a new racket, Frank, to the annoyance of officials, offered to interrupt the match and slug a few balls to help Bobby break it in.

Late in the second set, Riggs beat him to the baseline with a lob and Kovacs tossed his racket high into the air. It nearly beamed an official who already had one arm in a sling. After that, Frank tended to business until the end when he saluted the vanquished Riggs by sliding the racket along the ground to Bobby's feet.

As for McNeill—he played tennis.

The current issue of the Pennsylvania Angler states that of our so-called protected game fish, only three were native to Pennsylvania waters—the eastern chain pickerel, the Chautauqua muskellunge and the brook trout. Which will be news to many sportsmen who thought that, like Topay, most of our game fish "just grewed" in Pennsylvania streams years and years ago. Records indicate that the smallmouth bass was first stocked in waters east of the Allegheny mountains in 1863, a group of Philadelphia sportsmen being responsible for the first planting, which was made in the Delaware river. Early records indicate the bass also was native to Lake Erie and catches of this game fish were made in the vicinity of Erie in the early part of the nineteenth century.

The wall-eyed pike, or Susquehanna salmon as it is commonly called in many sections of Pennsylvania, is believed to have been first stocked in the Chemung river, New York State, by a Jesuit priest and an Englishman about 1800. From the original planting in the Chemung, the fish rapidly spread southward in the Susquehanna river. As for the rainbows and the browns, two of Warren county's most sought after game fish, the former is believed to have been first brought in from the Pacific slope about 1897, and the browns from the original shipment from Germany were first received at the Corry hatchery in 1886.

And speaking of the pike or "Susquehanna salmon," we are reminded that for many years the fish commission has been seeking the true origin of the latter term. It is neither a salmon nor a member of the pike family—it's a perch which continues to strike during hot weather when its colleagues, the pickerel and muskellunge, are too mad at the high temperature to bother with bait. We mentioned above the planting of the "Susquehanna salmon" in the Chemung and its spread all the way to Chesapeake Bay. It is believed that the term came from the fact that farmers and millers along the Susquehanna referred to the perch as "salmon" in contracts with apprentices. These settlers saved their pork and served fish to the hired hands. The apprentices, in retaliation, banded together and insisted on a contract guaranteeing "they would not be fed salmon more than two times a week."

Yeah, yeah, yeah, it should have been 18- and 36-hole rounds instead of 9 and 18 ... Does that take care of everything? ... Wayne (Windy) Crawford, former Edinboro star, is among the applicants for the coaching job at Fairview, made vacant by the resignation of Joe Krupa, who goes to George Washington U. ... An electric-eye device for calling foul may be installed on one of the local alleys this season ... All of the stream-lined slides in California are being thus equipped ... Probably on the theory that an electric-eye can't talk back and can't be punched on the nose ... Many Warren golfers will be at Chautauqua next Wednesday for the Picard-Snod-Edwards-Souter exhibition ... Monday night will bring more Russell Field developments ... The school board will peek at the revised bids for a sheet metal fence.

HOWARD ENTRIES ARE FAVORED IN SUNSET

Los Angeles, Aug. 3.—(AP) With a crack field slated to go postwar the $20,000 added Sunset Handicap, Hollywood Park ends its third and most successful turf meeting today before a good-bye throng of more than 30,000.

Named to parade to the post for a final shot at a major purse were Charles S. Howard's Kayak II and Advocate, Myron Seznick's Can't Wait, A. A. Baroni's Specity and Vain Bo; George S. Stratton's Rytical, Louis B. Mayer's Beautiful winner of the $25,000 Hollywood Derby July 29, the Edgemont Stable's Mount Vernon II, and Etolia II, owned by Bing Crosby and Lin Howard.

The distance, a mile and one half, made it difficult to predict, but the Howard entry of Kayak II and Advocate shaped up as the class of the field despite the poor showing made by the pair in the Gold Cup a week ago.

Reds Lose First Twin Bill Of Season; Cubs Spoil Dodgers' Chance

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Hold onto your hats, boys, the Cincinnati Reds are riding that roller coaster.

The National League champions, whom everybody said couldn't slump because they had pitchers who just couldn't be beaten in succession, have managed to lose five of their last six games.

That kind of traveling has got to be labeled a slump, even if it ends right there and the Reds start winning again.

They dropped one of their dearest possessions yesterday when they lost to the Dodgers 4-2, with two victories, 10-3 and 4-3. It was the first time that Cincinnati had lost a double-header this year.

Boston has been murderous to the Reds all year and their triumphs yesterday gave them an even break for the dozen times the Bees the only team in the league over which the champs don't have an advantage.

The only runs the Reds were able to get off Nick Strincevich's six-hit hurling in the first game came on a three-run homer by Frank McCormick. The second game went 12 innings before the Bees finally loaded the bases and rookie Chet Ross singled home the deciding run.

The short-handed Chicago Cubs edged out the Dodgers 4-2, with busy Claude Passeau striking out the last two batters in a rescue act that gave Larry French his 11th victory of the year.

Babe Young hit two homers, one in the ninth inning, to give the Giants a 5-4 verdict over the St. Louis Cardinals in their first game, but Carl Doyle checked the New Yorkers on seven hits in the night-leap to win 3-1.

The American League situation remained unchanged, with Detroit a game in front, as both the Tigers and the Cleveland Indians were whipped.

Joe Cronin hit for the cycle—a home run, triple, double and single—to guide the Boston Red Sox to a 12-9 triumph over the Tigers. Jimmie Foss also hit his 23rd out of their last six games.

That kind of traveling has got to be labeled a slump, even if it ends right there and the Reds start winning again.

The Yankees pummeled the Indians with 13 hits in a 10-2 game that was scarred by nine errors.

The best hurling in several days was a two-hitter turned in by Southpaw Thornton Lee of the Chicago White Sox in beating the Washington Senators 10-2. Lee missed a shutout when Jim Bloodworth homered with one on, but this blow became insignificant in the face of a 16-hit onslaught by the White Sox.

Bob Harris of the St. Louis Browns shut out the Philadelphia Athletics 5-0 in a night game, although he gave eight hits to four that his teammates collected, but two runs scored on a wild throw by Benny McCoy.

The Pittsburgh Pirates also were held to four hits for nine innings in a night game with the Phillies, but they bunched four more in the tenth to win 5-2.

It costs almost $12,000 to cover an acre of ground with glass for growing hothouse produce.

Softball Notes

SIXTH STRAIGHT
Count's Restaurant hung up its sixth straight victory in the City League last evening, edging the Moose 17 to 14 in a slugfest. Twenty base hits rang off the losers' bats, with 19 being clouted by the first half champs.

The Moose scored all of its runs in the first three frames, leading 14 to 4 at the end of the third, but Count's lads came back with five in the sixth, three in the seventh, four in the eighth and one in the ninth as Zerbe started throwing them past the Moose batters right into Phillo's mitt. Cummings and Tremblay were the Moose battery.

It was Zerbe's first start, and the former high school grid and court star was impressive after a shaky beginning.

Joe Bonavita had five hits, including a homer, for the winners, with Keller and Loney each collecting four hits for the Moose.

ELKS ON TOP

The Elks No. 1 team took a 14-10 decision from the Clarendon Odd Fellows in the Fraternal League last night at the South Side diamond. The battlers were Christensen and F. Baldensperger for the Elks, with Wilson and Whitaker for the losers.

NORTH WARREN LOOP

Another slugging circus was registered in the North Warren circuit, the Unico winning from West Penn, 14 to 11. Messier and Reiter made up the winning battery, with Reynolds pitching and Crucik, shank catching for the West Penn.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press
Lefty Thornton Lee, White Sox—Held Senators to two hits.
Joe Cronin, Red Sox—Hit for the cycle (home run, triple, double and single) to lead them to victory over Tigers.
Nick Strincevich, John Salvo and Chet Ross—Former's six-hit pitching stopped Reds cold in first game, while Salvo scattered seven safeties over 12 innings of nightcap until Ross singled with bases loaded to win game.
Babe Young, Giants, and Carl Doyle, Cardinals—Former hit two home runs, one of them in ninth inning to win first game, and latter pitched seven-hit ball to sew up second game.
Bob Elliott and Arky Vaughan, Pirates—Their doubles in tenth inning brought victory over Phillies.

Grayson's SCOREBOARD

Driver Hardest Club for Most Golfers to Master Thoroughly, and Low Scores Can't Be Made Without Good Start on Each Hole

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

THE driver is the hardest club for most golfers to master thoroughly, but, as Harry Cooper points out, few good ones will admit it because the tee shot is the most spectacular and therefore the most sought-after.

Lighthorse Harry Cooper is convinced that an analysis of most players' games would show more errors committed with the driver than with any other club.

There are few players in the low 80s and high 70s who don't push, hook, top or otherwise mangle four tee shots out of 18. For a man to be off on four mangle-niblick swings in a round is rare.

They don't pay off on the drive, but Cooper, the stylist, stresses that neither do they write checks for 10-foot putts which drop for an eight after a 450-yard expedition through the rough.

DURING tournaments of national importance you frequently hear the remark that the stars devote practice periods to the putting green because that is where championships are won and lost.

"That is nonsense," says Cooper, the great runner-upper.

"Most topnotchers spend considerable time on practice greens at tournaments because no two courses have greens exactly alike, and it is highly essential to get the feel of strange greens."

"These same players have spent days perfecting long wooden shots on practice fairways at home."

"Since a drive is hit the same way on one course as on another, driving practice at the site of the tournament isn't so necessary."

NINETY-NINE of every 100 golfers, if given their choice of having only one perfect shot on a hole, would prefer the drive. And their judgment would be sound, according to Cooper.

There's no other club with which you can cover as much distance.

"It is well to be able to make delicate recoveries from traps and stroke-saving run-ups from off the green," asserts the machine-like Texas Englishman, "but the fact remains that on a par 4, 450-yard hole this distance must be covered before a putt can be holed, and I know of no more damaging factor than a drive sliced or hooked off the fairway."

The farther away from the hole, the less chance a player has of hitting the green, so why, asks Cooper, delude one's self into ignoring poor tee shots upon the false assumption that the mashie and putter will make up the lost ground?

Golf courses simply are not laid out that way.

With Elmo Wolfe slamming a pair of home runs to pace a 14-hit attack, the National Forge last night entered the semi-final round of the Pennsylvania Semi-Pro Baseball tournament, turning back North Apollo, 9 to 3.

Wolfe had three hits in four trips, batting in five runs.

"Lefty" Kulick started on the hill for the Irvine crew and blanked North Apollo for four frames while the Forge picked up two runs in the opening frame. In the fifth, Frank walked the first batter and the second was hit by a pitched ball and when Solters doubled both runs across, Hank Wise came in to relieve Kulick in the following frame.

Hank was hit by a batted ball and was forced to retire at the end of the sixth, Caffrey finishing the game. The Forgers went out to get five runs in the sixth and although North Apollo added another in the seventh, that was the ball game. The contest was called at the end of the eighth because of darkness.

Joe Nagle was another luminary at the plate with three singles in four trips. Solters, a brother of the Cleveland third sacker, got the only extra base hit for the losers, a double.

Monday afternoon the Forgers meet Ford City, the winner taking on undefeated Natrona in the finals for the state championship. The Forge's only loss was at the hands of Natrona, while the sole Ford City defeat was handed out by the Forge, 12 to 10.

HOWARD ENTRIES ARE FAVORED IN SUNSET

Los Angeles, Aug. 3.—(P)—With a crack field slated to go postward the $20,000 added Sunset Handicap, Hollywood Park ends its third and most successful turf meeting today before a good-bye throng of more than 30,000.

Named to parade to the post for a final shot at a major purse were Charles S. Howard's Kayak II and Advocate, Myron Selznick's Can't Wait, A. A. Baroni's Specify and Vain Bo; George S. Stratton's Hysterical, Louis B. Mayer's Beautiful winner of the $25,000 Hollywood Derby July 20, the Edgemont Stable's Mount Vernon II, and Eliza II, owned by Bing Crosby and Lin Howard.

The distance, a mile and one half, made it difficult to predict, but the Howard entry of Kayak II and Advocate shaped up as the class of the field despite the poor showing made by the pair in the Gold Cup a week ago.

Softball Notes

SIXTH STRAIGHT

Count's Restaurant hung up its sixth straight victory in the City League last evening, edging the Moose 17 to 14 in a slugfest. Twenty base hits rang off the losers' bats, with 19 being clouted by the first half champs.

The Moose scored all of its runs in the first three frames, leading 14 to 4 at the end of the third, but Count's lads came back with five in the sixth, three in the seventh, four in the eighth and one in the ninth as Zerbe started throwing them past the Moose batters right into Pirillo's mitt. Cummings and Tremblay were the Moose battery.

It was Zerbe's first start, and the former high school grid and court star was impressive after a shaky beginning.

Joe Bonavia had five hits, including a homer, for the winners, with Keller and Loney each collecting four hits for the Moose.

ELKS ON TOP

The Elks No. 1 team took a 14-10 decision from the Clarendon Odd Fellows in the Fraternal League last night at the South Side diamond. The batteries were Christensen and E. Baldensperger for the Elks, with Wilson and Whitaker for the losers.

NORTH WARREN LOOP

Another slugging circus was registered in the North Warren circuit, the Unico winning from West Penn, 14 to 11. Messler and Retter made up the winning battery, with Reynolds pitching and Cruickshank catching for the West Penn.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press
Lefty Thornton Lee, White Sox—Held Senators to two hits.

Joe Cronin, Red Sox—Hit for the cycle (home run, triple, double and single) to lead them to victory over Tigers.

Nick Strincevich, John Salvo and Chet Ross, Bees—Former's six-hit pitching stopped Reds cold in first game, while Salvo scattered seven safeties over 12 innings of nightcap until Ross singled with bases loaded to win game.

Babe Young, Giants, and Carl Doyle, Cardinals—Former hit two home runs, one of them in ninth inning to win first game, and latter pitched seven-hit ball to sew up second game.

Bob Elliott and Arky Vaughan, Pirates—Their doubles in tenth inning brought victory over Phillies.

Reds Lose First Twin Bill Of Season; Cubs Spoil Dodgers' Chance

BY JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
Hold onto your hats, boys, the Cincinnati Reds are riding that roller coaster.

The National League champions, whom everybody said couldn't slump because they had pitchers who just couldn't be beaten in succession, have managed to lose five out of their last six games.

That kind of traveling has got to be labeled a slump, even if it ends right there and the Reds start winning again.

They dropped one of their dearest possessions yesterday when the Boston Bees humiliated them with two victories, 10-3 and 4-3. It was the first time that Cincinnati had lost a double-header this year.

Boston has been murderous to the Reds all year and their triumphs yesterday gave them an even break for the dozen times the Cubs have met. This made the Bees the only team in the league over which the champs don't have an advantage.

The only runs the Reds were able to get off Nick Strincevich's six-hit hurling in the first game came on a three-run homer by Frank McCormick. The second game went 12 innings before the Bees finally loaded the bases and Rookie Chet Ross singled home the deciding run.

The short-handed Chicago Cubs edged out the Dodgers 4-3, with busy Claude Passeau striking out the last two batters in a rescue act that gave Larry French his 11th victory of the year.

Babe Young hit two homers, one in the ninth inning to give the Giants a 5-4 verdict over the St. Louis Cardinals in their first game, but Carl Doyle checked the New Yorkers on seven hits in the nightcap to win, 3-1.

The American League situation remained unchanged, with Detroit a game in front, as both the Tigers and the Cleveland Indians were whipped.

Joe Cronin hit for the cycle—a home run, triple, double and single—to guide the Boston Red Sox to a 12-9 triumph over the Tigers. Jimmie Foxx also hit his 23rd homer and young Dominick DiMaggio smacked one with two on to rout Buck Newsom, although the league's leading pitcher wasn't charged with the loss.

The Yankees pummeled the Indians with 13 hits in a 10-2 game that was scarred by nine errors.

The best hurling in several days was a two-hitter turned in by Southpaw Thornton Lee of the Chicago White Sox in beating the Washington Senators 10-2. Lee missed a shutout when Jim Bloodworth homered with one on, but this blow became insignificant in the face of a 16-hit onslaught by the White Sox.

Bob Harris of the St. Louis Browns shut out the Philadelphia Athletics 5-0 in a night game, although he gave eight hits to four that his teammates collected. Two of the latter were homers and two runs scored on a wild throw by Benny McCoy.

The Pittsburgh Pirates also were held to four hits for nine innings in a night game with the Phillies, but they bunched four more in the tenth to win 5-2.

Driver Hardest Club for Most Golfers to Master Thoroughly, and Low Scores Can't Be Made Without Good Start on Each Hole

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

THE driver is the hardest club for most golfers to master thoroughly, but, as Harry Cooper points out, few good ones will admit it because the tee shot is the most spectacular and therefore the most sought-after.

Lighthorse Harry Cooper is convinced that an analysis of most players' games would show more errors committed with the driver than with any other club.

There are few players in the low 80s and high 70s who don't push, hook, top or otherwise mangle four tee shots out of 18. For a man to be off on four mashie-niblick swings in a round is rare.

They don't pay off on the drive, but Cooper, the stylist, stresses that neither do they write checks for 10-foot putts which drop for an eight after a 450-yard expedition through the rough.

DURING tournaments of national importance you frequently hear the remark that the stars devote practice periods to the putting green because that is where championships are won and lost.

"That is nonsense," says Cooper, the great runner-upper.

"Most noteposters spend considerable time on practice greens at tournaments because no two courses have greens exactly alike, and it is highly essential to get the feel of strange greens."

"These same players have spent days perfecting long wooden shots on practice fairways at home."

"Since a drive is hit the same way on one course as on another, driving practice at the site of the tournament isn't so necessary."

NINETY-NINE of every 100 golfers, if given their choice of having only one perfect shot on a hole, would prefer the drive. And their judgment would be sound, according to Cooper.

There's no other club with which you can cover as much distance.

"It is well to be able to make delicate recoveries from traps and stroke-saving run-ups from off the green," asserts the machine-like Texas Englishman, "but the fact remains that on a par 4, 450-yard hole this distance must be covered before a putt can be holed, and I know of no more damaging factor than a drive sliced or hooked off the fairway."

The farther away from the hole, the less chance a player has of hitting the green, so why, asks Cooper, delude one's self into ignoring poor tee shots upon the false assumption that the mashie and putter will make up the lost ground?

Golf courses simply are not laid out that way.

enlistment system had broken down.

The letter was made public by Vandenberg last night, a few hours after President Roosevelt said at a press conference:

"I am distinctly in favor of a selective service training bill and I consider it essential to adequate national defense."

Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) said that the senate military committee expected to complete its draft of a greatly revised conscription bill Monday and have it ready for senate debate next week.

The house military committee ended public hearings on the issue yesterday, and seven members were asked to redraft the bill at once. The senate committee refused, on advice of the war department, to fix a limit of 900,000 conscripts during the first year. It also defeated an attempt to delay actual draft until war.

Republican headquarters will be in Washington, but additional offices will be maintained in New York and Chicago, Martin announced. Hamilton will be in charge of the Chicago office.

ALL-NETWORK SALUTE

The all-network salute to broadcasting and its contribution to a national unity, to be carried from 8 to 9 o'clock this evening by the 500 or more stations of NBC, CBS and MBS chains will include a message from President Roosevelt, read by his secretary, Stephen Early. The program, on the eve of the annual convention of the National Association of Broadcasters at San Francisco, will originate for the most part from the grounds of the two world's fairs.

LUTHERAN PICNIC

A committee on arrangements has plan well under way for the annual picnic of the First Lutheran church and Sunday school, to be held at Island Park in Youngsville Thursday afternoon and evening. There will be a program of games and sports at four o'clock and the picnic supper at six. Cars will leave the church about 2:30 and 5:30 and anyone wishing transportation is asked to call E. E. Redding, 2138, or the church secretary, Miss Harriet Hill, 1109-R.

RECEIVES MEDAL

Citizen-soldiers from Pennsylvania won a majority of medals and awards at the CMTC Camp at Fort Hoyle, Md., for proficiency in military training, according to an Associated Press dispatch. Among those receiving Military Training Camp Association medals for best trainees in various classes and batteries is Charles A. Foreman, of Tionesta.

EQUALITY FOR ALL

Magistrate R. A. Kerr, of Titusville, fined an intoxicated woman $7 instead of the usual $3 for drunkenness. "If women visit saloons like men, get drunk like them and cause the same kind of disturbances," he said, "they will have to be treated like men and cannot find fault with us when we pursue that course."

PARK ATTENDANCE UP

G. Albert Stewart, secretary of forests and waters, estimated today that attendance in the state parks and recreation areas is "20 percent greater this year" than last season, according to a Harrisburg dispatch. "Improvements are going forward steadily in these parks," he said. "We keep drilling holes," adding picnic tables, and bathhouses for the public convenience."

PLAN FARM SHOW

The State Farm Show Commission will meet August 13 to develop plans for the annual exposition in January. John H. Light, secretary of agriculture, said reports indicate "a good year for crops all over the state," and with accelerating industrial activity "the farmers should find a good market."

GETTING SETTLED

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey E. Davis and daughter, Joann, who left last Tuesday for Clearfield, are reported getting settled in their new home. Mr. Davis, boys' work secretary at the local Y. M. C. A. for nearly five years, assumed his new duties as general secretary of the Clearfield Association on Thursday. His successor here, T. F. Eppley, will come from Erie to start his duties September 1.

The initials "L. P. S." found on an old turtle near State College were carved on it 26 years ago by L. P. Smith of Bradford, Smith claimed last night. He said he found the turtle along the Allegheny river while visiting a relative's farm at Allegany, N. Y., and cut his initials into its shell with a pocket knife. During the intervening years the turtle traveled the 100 miles, uphill and down, from Allegany to State College.

MAY PRESERVE SHIP

A move is under way to preserve as a historical exhibit the U. S. S. Wolverine, the nation's first iron warship, launched at Erie, in 1843. Richard P. Brown, state secretary of commerce, said he would meet Monday with James K. Shields, secretary of the Erie Chamber of Commerce, to consider plans for saving the ship. Shields wrote the commerce secretary that "it looks very much as though" the Navy Department "will endeavor to dispose of the old vessel."

FINE FIRM FOR EMPTYING ACID INTO TIONESTA

Sheffield, Aug. 3.—As a result of its negligence in having permitted tanning liquors and acids to drain into Tionesta creek, thereby polluting the stream to the extent that hundreds of game fish, including bass and trout, along with other forms of marine life, were killed, the Surplus and Salvage Company, of Jamestown, N. Y., Thursday was assessed a fine of $100. The fine was imposed by Fish Warden R. C. Bailey, of Youngsville.

The tanning liquor and acid which allegedly caused the destruction of the fish was emptied from vats at the old Instanter tannery, this place. The tannery is being dismantled by the salvage company.

Ezra Weinstein, Jamestown, is the head of the wrecking firm and Bernie Bernstein, also of Jamestown, is general manager.

ORGANIZE CLUB FOR GARDENING AT YOUNGVILLE

Youngsville, Aug. 3.—A Youngsville and Irvine Garden club was organized at the Forge club house on Friday evening. The officers elected were Roy McDowell, temporary president; Frank Peterson, vice president; Mrs. A. M. Schnell, secretary; and Joe Davis, treasurer.

It was decided to hold the meetings the last Tuesday in the month, the next one to be held at the club house at 8:00 p. m., September 3rd. Dues were set at 10c a month, to begin with the September meeting. A collection was taken Friday night amounting to over $3.00 which more than met the organizing expenses. The group present hoped to increase their number to 100 charter members.

The club expects to be affiliated with the national garden club. They intend to have speakers on garden subjects. Also to undertake certain community projects that will add to the beauty of the towns as well as making their individual gardens more attractive.

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mead and daughters, of Illinois, are spending the week with their parents. Klahr Peterson and Carol Lindberg attended the baseball games at the Cleveland stadium on Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Stickle were on a motor trip to the east this week visiting many interesting places.

Mrs. Mary L. Bordwell is visiting her sister and daughter in Lakewood, Ohio. She expects to return about the 10th.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Husted and Betty and Ted went to Cleveland Thursday to see his sister, Edith Husted, who started that evening for Japan. They were accompanied home Friday by Mrs. Elizabeth Husted.

Arrests Result in Protests

Britain, busily bolstering her defenses against Adolf Hitler's threatened blitzkrieg, received another contingent of Australian troops. A dispatch from Tangier, Morocco, to Grenoble, France, said the British fleet at Gibraltar had sailed to join in the defense of the United Kingdom.

The Petain government got on with its task of reorganizing France by banning Freemasonry and all other secret orders and further restricted sale of foodstuffs. The British apparently raided northwest Germany again last night and this morning. The Germans did not mention it, but the Bremen radio station shut down, as it always does when raiders are in the neighborhood.

The German daily and nightly air raids on British ships and soil continued, however. Bombs were dropped in wide scattered areas and German planes were seen to attack ships well offshore. Meanwhile, the British inner war cabinet has a new member, Lord Beaverbrook, the newspaper publisher who is in charge of aircraft production.

The press speculated that his advancement might mean the end of active political affairs for former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain. Now Lord President of Council, Chamberlain still is in a hospital after a recent operation.

ATTEMPTS TO PIN SMALL RALLY ON MARKET MEET SCANT SUCCESS

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Attempts to pin another small rally on the stock market met with scant success today and many leaders relinquished fractions of recent gains.

Price changes, though, were viewed as relatively unimportant owing to the sluggishness of dealings. Transfers were around 100,000 shares for the two hour proceedings. Trends were well jumbled at the close.

While business prospects, on the whole, were seen as an anti-selling argument, even here there was talk of a let-down in nearby weeks.

As on recent Saturdays, scores of traders remained away from the financial sector. Those who appeared seemed disinclined to move far either way pending fresh European war developments and clarification of the national tax program.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem skidded next week's steel mill operations. It was predicted, would record a modest drop because of the suspension of plant furnaces for repairs. At the same time, it was reported backlogs in this industry are sufficiently large to support the current rate of production for as much as seven weeks in the case of one corporation.

Neither General Motors nor Chrysler was able to work up any real rising urge, notwithstanding continuance of satisfactory sales in this field and the likelihood several manufacturers would take on a line of armament contracts. At Detroit it was estimated prices for 1941 cars and trucks would be boosted from 3 to 5 per cent to take care of higher costs.

YESTERDAY, Kay blurted out Mimi's story to the Colonel, then, feeling thoroughly unpopular, returns to her old quarters. She meets the chaplain who is bringing a lurid book to Felicia. The orderly relates seeing Sandra in the dining-room one night taking vinegar from a crieet.

Chapter 37

Furtive Figure

AS both the orderly and the chaplain seemed disposed to linger and continue the subject, I took my overnight case and my rejected manuscript and went off down the hall to Felicia's room. But it did strike me as odd that Sandra should have been filling her medicine bottle in the dark. And there was something else the orderly had said that rang the little bell in my mind. Something that for the moment eluded me.

Felicia was in. She came to the door looking pale and weary. I told her I had decided to leave in the morning and had come back to do my packing. Was there a vacant guest room where I could spend the night?

"Yes, plenty of them. But why don't you stay with me? I'm not looking forward to the night alone."

I saw then that she looked as she had the night her car was stolen. Even her steel nerves had been shaken by this last catastrophe.

"All right," I said. "If you're sure you want me."

"The only thing I'd like better is a whole lot of cavalry, armed to the teeth."

"Has the guard been withdrawn from my room?"

"I suppose so. I haven't seen anyone around since noon."

"Then there'll be no objection to my getting my things?"

"I don't know. Perhaps you'd better ask Colonel Pennant."

"You didn't say I couldn't," I told her brightly.

I put a period to that by taking my case into the bedroom. I left my hat there, too. But the big manila envelope and my pocketbook I bore with me back to the sitting room.

"I may as well pack that," I said disgustedly. "Barren fruit of my visit at Fort Michigan."

"What is it?"

"Rejected manuscript. Sent it off on Monday and back it comes on Friday. Nice going."

"Quick work," she commented. "It's even got an air-mail stamp on it."

"Why, so it has. I didn't notice that. Rosabelle is getting lavish. Now what might that mean?"

"Felicia suggested divy. I said, 'No, wait! There was a letter, too.' I opened my pocketbook and took it out. 'Another air-mail stamp. Curiouser and curiouser.'"

I was conscious of Felicia's eyes as I opened the letter and scanned it hurriedly, murmuring phrases aloud.

"Dear Miss Cornish, this starts off swell but about the middle it starts to go haywire. Sounds like two stories mixed up. I'm rushing the manuscript to you as I need it for the November book. Please clean it up and fire it back—"

"Nerts," I commented, thrusting the letter back in my bag. "She needs new specs. Well, I'm certainly not going to tangle it tonight. I've a notion to send it back without changing a line. She wouldn't know the difference—they're a dizzy lot, these love-pulp editors."

"Sounds like it," said Felicia indifferently. "Speaking of dizzy reminds me the chaplain wants some more towels. Wonder if the laundry can bleach out that black stuff he put on his rash? And when I collected the mail, I heard Jeff's room this morning there was a towel that looked as if he had been polishing brass with it. Honestly, people show less consideration—"

Animal At Bay

SHE had started out, but she paused at the door.

"I'll be back in a minute. Need any help with your packing?"

"No thanks. I just brought a wardrobe suitcase. I can pack it in a half-hour. I may as well do it now and get to bed. I want to catch an early train."

I followed her out into the corridor, where we separated. Subconsciously, while I hesitated at the door of my room, I heard the sound of her tapping heels dimly and cease as she rounded a corner. Then I mustered courage to turn the knob.

The door was not locked. I opened it slowly, fearfully, half expecting to feel it impeded by the prom form which had been there in the morning. But it swung in easily enough, and my hand on the light switch, I prepared to follow it.

Then I saw that there was already a light in the room. A dim, furtive light, over by my worktable. Someone was bending over the table, focusing a small flashlight on something that lay there. Someone who had not heard me at the door, or noticed the light from the corridor which I had let in.

If ever I got my mental signals jammed, it was at this moment. Terror is supposed to lend wings to the feet. I'll never know why I flipped the light switch. It might have meant curtains for me.

The figure whirled like an animal at bay, and I saw it was Jeff. I stepped inside and closed the door after me. Then I asked him what in the so-and-so he was doing there and would he like a few of my deathless works with which to while away the hours of his confinement?

He didn't answer, just stood there turning first one color, then another, as if the stagehands were trying out lights on him. I waited and the silence grew uncomfortable.

"Why don't you yell?" he burst out at last in a cracked voice. "Why don't you do something? Go ahead—scream for help! Notify Dan—call out the guard. You don't seem to realize the murderer is at large!"

There was enough bitterness in the last words to flavor a carload of quinine.

"First I'd like to know what you've found that's so interesting."

He brought it reluctantly from behind his back.

"It doesn't belong to you," he said stiffly. "I don't blame you for being sore at me for prying among your things, but this was what I was looking for, and it's the only thing I've bothered—"

It was Sandra's notebook. The one in which she had taken her shorthand notes.

"Where did you find it?" I asked with a little stirring of excitement.

He looked surprised. "Right here. It was on top of those papers."

"But it wasn't there this morning!"

Conceited Man

"ARE you sure?"

"Of course I'm sure. I was looking for it. But what on earth do you want with it?"

"Suppose I don't tell you?" he suggested coolly.

"Then I will lift my lovely voice and startle the echoes."

"And if I do?"

I looked him over carefully. "I see you're not armed."

"Think I'm an utter fool?"

"I'll tell you better when I know how you come to be here. But on the whole, yes. Any man who lets himself be blackmailed into marriage—any man conceited enough to believe three beautiful women were all in love with him—"

His face turned the color of a ripe plum. He opened his mouth to speak, but nothing came out.

I took pity on him. She knew exactly what Sandra was doing, but she was afraid to tell Dan about it. If you had only let her talk to you—"

"It wouldn't have done any good," he said dully. "Sandra could make you think black was white. And she always had made trouble when she didn't get her way. Even when we were kids. God knows what she wanted to marry me for. Not for love. But if it would make her leave Dan alone—"

"Listen!" he went on desperately. "Dan was the best friend I had in the world. When my father got sick Dan was—well, he was pretty fine. All the time I was a cadet he was my pattern of what an officer and a gentleman ought to be—"

He paused and kicked the table leg.

"So you didn't want to take a chance of mixing things up for him. I see. I saw more than that. I saw a little of what Julia had been trying to tell me about Jeff's loyalty, his sensibility, his steady sense of honor. 'Forget that crack about the three women,' I told him. Then added lamely, 'I hope everything is going to be all right.'"

To him that was probably just an inane remark, but I meant every word of it. I was remembering, with an unpleasant chill, feeling under my ribs, that moment in the colonel's library when I had let my red hair get the best of me and had told what these two, Mimi and Jeff, had been willing to sacrifice much to keep.

With an effort I brought back my wandering wits.

"So that was why you wanted the notebook," I said. "You thought there might be something in it."

"Some lie," he said savagely. "She told me last night that she had written down a few things she knew about people and put it in a safe place. That was after she made the pleasant remark that it would do me no good to kill her. I was tempted to when she said that. But I didn't."

I was still standing against the door, and I could hear Felicia coming back down the corridor. I held my breath until I heard her turn in at her own rooms. But I was suddenly aware of Jeff's position.

"How did you get here?" I demanded, dropping my voice to a whisper.

"The feet, legs, and thighs of a human being contain more than 150 muscles."

Bamboo seeds are eaten by the poorer classes in some parts of India.

YESTERDAY: Kay arranges to sleep with Felicia, then goes to her old room to pack for an early departure. Jeff is there, holding Sandra's shorthand notebook which was missing that morning. He says he is trying to find something Sandra wrote and put it in a safe place.

Chapter 38

The Vanishing Notebook

"HOW did you get here?" I demanded.

"Walked out," he whispered back, grinning sardonically. "Sent the sentry for a tray and the darn fool left the door unlocked," locked."

"Well, you're walking right back in," I told him grimly. "Of all the fool stunts! Climb out that window for me in Adam's car. Here's the key to the garage exit. And keep an eye out for the sentry along the back row."

He did not argue with me. Maybe he thought if I knew as much as Sandra I might be equally dangerous. At any rate, he departed informally by the window, and I had just started into the bedroom to latch the screen after him when Felicia came in.

"Anything I can do?" she asked. I pretended I was coming out of the bedroom instead of going in.

"No, thanks. I've been sorting my papers and just remembered something I left at the Pennants."

I said, inventing hastily. "I'd better go for it right now, before they go to bed. I'll take Adam's car."

What if she should offer to go with me? I held my breath, but she didn't. I opened the door and held it for her, then I turned off the light and went out, closing the door behind me.

"Guess I'll get out of this girdle," she said with a yawn. "I'll probably read for a while, but if I'm asleep when you come in, your bed is the one farthest from the door. And for gosh, sake don't creep in quietly unless you want me to wake up and scream my head off!"

Jeff was sitting dutifully in the car. I backed it out and turned it down the row toward the hospital.

"For a girl, you've got guts," he observed presently. "How do you know I'm not a murderer?"

"I don't know it. I hope for Julia's sake you're not. But walking out of the prison ward tonight isn't going to make matters look any better for you."

"If Dan had put me in arrest in quarters I would have stayed there," he said resentfully. "I guess he really thinks I killed her. It's funny how few people will keep on believing in you when things look black. Sandra certainly acted as if she thought I killed Ivan. But if she did why did she marry me?"

"Now you're asking something. You said awhile ago that it wasn't for love. There aren't many reasons for a woman marrying a man she doesn't love, and you can sum them up in one word—gain."

"But what would she gain through me? I haven't anything but my pay, and she was pretty well fixed financially. At least she ought to have been. You don't spend twenty thousand dollars in a couple of years—not without having something to show for it."

Painful Subject

"JEFF! You don't suppose she gambled it away on the market?"

"No. She doesn't know a stock from a bond."

"But did she ever tell you how it was invested, or how much income she has?"

"Not me. I wouldn't have listened. I didn't want anything to do with it. If my father wanted her to have it—"

He stopped, but not before bitterness had crept into his voice again.

I hesitated for a moment, but something made me pursue the painful subject.

"Julia tells me your father left you a house in Memphis and your great-grandfather's farm in the Ozarks."

"The Memphis house is so heavily mortgaged even the bank won't take it over. And the Ozark property—maybe you don't know it, but land up there isn't worth the paper the deed is written on. I pay the taxes on it for sentimental reasons. The old gentleman loved it, and Julia and I had fun there when we were kids. There's another nice little trait of Sandra's: she never even saw the place, but she was plenty sure when she found out that I've wanted it to Julia. You'd think she'd be satisfied."

"Wait a minute," I said, my breath coming a little uneven. I slowed the car to a crawl. "Are you sure that property is worthless?"

"No doubt about it—nothing but rocks and hills. Why?"

"But is there anything Sandra might have got hold of that you didn't know—a railroad, or some project like Boulder Dam, or oil—"

On, I don't know anything about real estate, but mightn't there be some reason for Sandra to think it was valuable?"

"You don't dam a brook," he said. He sounded grimly amused. "Neither do you build railroads where there's no place to go. And there's no oil in those parts that I ever heard of. But as far as Sandra is concerned, maybe you've got something. That girl was the most credulous fool I've ever encountered. She could believe anything. If she was any kin to us I'd say she got it from the old gentleman himself. He swore until the day he died that there was silver on the place. He kept sending samples to be assayed and tearing up the reports when they came—"

His voice trailed off.

"And if Sandra had ever heard that story she would have believed it?" I asked tensely.

"She might, I suppose. Even Father liked to toy with the idea, though he knew better. He always said he'd go back when he was retired and spend a little money proving to his own satisfaction that there was nothing there. Maybe he talked to Sandra at the last—maybe he got to believing it himself. Anyway, she and I quarreled about it when we were first engaged, and almost as soon as she got here last week she was at me again to change my will. I didn't think even she would be that cheap."

"Did you change it?"

"No. Why should I? Julia has never known anything about it, but I intend her to have the place if anything happens to me. Then, when Sandra practically accused me of killing Ivan, I told her that finished things, as far as I was concerned. I'd married her, but I didn't propose to pay any more for her silence. She ran to you to make it appear, I suppose, that the breach was of her making. And it was part of her spite to go to the reception with a black eye. Kay, I swear I didn't even know she had it until right there on the front walk when she took off that scarf thing she was wearing."

G. L. F. Patrons Plan For Annual Meeting

Democratic control of cooperative business will be the theme of the G. L. F. Patrons annual meeting, to be held next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, E.S.T., at the Akeley Grange Hall, it was announced today by Zibo King, chairman of the local G. L. F. Patrons Committee.

The members of the Patrons Committee will be elected to succeed committee members whose terms expire. Reports of the past year's operations will be presented. Following the business session, a program of movies and other entertainment has been planned, and refreshments will be served. All members of farm families are invited.

Other members of the Patrons Committee helping in the arrangements for this meeting are Oscar Brumstrom, Theodore Rickerson, Victor Lundmark, Ora Rickers and P. K. Waldron, secretary.

ANTHRACITE SHIPMENTS

Shipments of anthracite during June amounted to 3,868,879 net tons, the State Department of Commerce reported today. That volume is an increase of 442,875 net tons or 12.9 per cent. over shipments in May; and an increase of 909,576 net tons or 30.7 per cent. over shipments in June, 1939.

EDUCATORS MEET

Dr. Francis B. Haas, Superintendent of Public Instruction, announced today that "National Defense and Education—The Program and the Cost," is to be the theme for the annual two-day gathering of the State's educators, to be held in the Forum of the Education Building on October 2 and 3.

LOW BIDDER

Unofficial low bidder for the widening and resurfacing of U. S. route 6 between Clarendon and Sheffield in Sheffield and Mead townships was the Mayer Bros. Construction Co., of Erie, with a bid of $61,416. It was announced yesterday afternoon by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways. The road is to be widened for a distance of 2.72 miles.

"I felt like blacking the other eye when I got her home. That was when she told me it wouldn't do me any good to kill her. After she went off to your room I looked through everything she had, because I thought if she was leaving anything written down in those rooms that nosey hostess or one of the orderlies would be into it. But I didn't find anything. That's why I thought about the shorthand notebook. Only I can't read shorthand, so I wasn't any better off when I found it. Can you? Do you know what was in it?"

"Just some dictation I gave her. That's all, as far as I know. I can read it fairly well, if it's Gregg. But I haven't looked at it. I'll see when I get back. But I think she was just bluffing, don't you?"

"God knows. It doesn't pay to take chances with people like her."

The prison ward was on the ground floor of the west wing. At Jeff's suggestion, I parked by the side entrance, got out and went in.

The sentry was sitting in front of the door to the ward, his face as white as chalk. He jumped a foot when I hissed at him and came at me with his hand on the butt of his automatic.

"You haven't reported Lieutenant Tack missing?" I whispered, and I thought the man was going to faint. "It's all right, sentry, he's out in the car. We were hoping he could get back without anyone knowing."

The enlisted man took his hand off the gun and brought out a handkerchief with which to mop his brow. He became suddenly garrulous, in a strained whisper.

"Listen, I just missed him, see? I come back with that tray, and I think he's asleep, see? Then I get to thinking about me leaving that door unlocked, and about two minutes ago I reaches in and turns on the light. Lady, I'm in the lieutenant's troop. I was going to wait to report it until I seen the Officer of the Guard comin' down the hall. He's due any time now. Lady, I sure am glad you brung him back."

I saw Jeff safely behind that door, locked this time, then I drove back to the club. It must be nearly ten o'clock, and I still had my packing to do, and that shorthand notebook to inspect.

The rejected manuscript was on the seat beside me. I had found myself still treasuring its hampering shape when I followed Jeff out to the garage. I had clung to it, unconsciously, that I had my pocketbook, while all the time my mind was on other things.

I put the car in the garage, collected manuscript and pocketbook, locked the garage, and went back to my rooms. It did not occur to me to be frightened a second time. My mind was on the shorthand notebook. I was thinking ironically that I had practically pledged myself to keep a secret that I had broadcast a couple of hours ago.

But when I turned on the light and went to look for it, the shorthand notebook was gone.

Russell, Aug. 2—The fourth quarterly conference of the Methodist church was held Wednesday evening at the Akeley church. The district superintendent, Dr. Barr, who has been the superintendent for the past six years preached a sermon following a dinner which was served in the dining room of the church at 7 o'clock. This was the last quarterly meeting that Dr. Barr will preach at in this district, and the following program was given. Several songs were sung. Mrs. Marvin Clendenen gave a talk. Rev. R. S. Naylor gave a talk giving the best wishes to Dr. Barr for continued ministry. Mrs. Barr responded. Mrs. Ed Miller sang a solo. Marie Harrington also gave a talk speaking of the good work of Dr. Barr and wife during the past six years at the close of the preaching service a business meeting was held.

Dry Riverbed—Where Traffic's Torrent Roared

This first photo since the Nazi occupation shows the Place de l'Opera today. In background is the world-famous Opera House itself. The white island before it is an entrance to the Metro-Paris subway. A boui once swirled an endless merry-go-round of traffic. Today that traffic consists of an occasional porter's handcart, a bicycle, a peasant's cart.
